VOL. XI. ATLANTA, GA. SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1878. NO 1

Gold opened in New York yesterday at 100⅝; closed quiet at 100½.

Cotton, middling uplands, closed yesterday in New York at 11⅛c. In Liverpool at 6 5-16d.

The Signal Service Bureau report indicates for to-day in Georgia, generally lower pressure, easterly to southerly winds and slightly warmer, clear or partly cloudy weather.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Religious Notes and Fancies—Local Church Appointments.

—Atlanta has the strictest Sunday regulations in the state.

—Baltimore has now fourteen Presbyterian churches.

—The Methodists and Baptists are almost numerically equal in Georgia.

—Interesting revival meetings have been in progress at the Second Baptist church during the past week.

—Gov. Colquitt's Charleston sermon has received wide and favorable comment from the press.

—The Baptist Herald pitches into the playing of base ball, and says that Christian people should not engage in it, because it is gambling.

—The First Baptist church of Baltimore—now ninety years of age—has recently completed a new house of worship at a cost of $65,000.

—Some one says, and truly, that there is a [illegible] deal of religion in the world, which may [illegible] inaptly styled "lightning-bug religion." [illegible] right while it lasts, but cold, and soon [illegible]

[illegible] the forty replies received by the Congre[illegible] [illegible]st to its question, "One sermon or two [illegible] bath?" the majority favored one ser[illegible] [illegible] letters were from congregational [illegible]ll the writers favor some substitute [illegible] sermon.

[illegible]stian Intelligencer remarks, with [illegible], that these are strange times we [illegible] and that "it seems probable that [illegible] will not be necessary for a man to [illegible]ing in the Bible in order to become [illegible] some churches calling themselves [illegible]

[illegible] opinion worth having: "I have [illegible]stian," said a gentleman to his [illegible]d." was the reply; "and now I [illegible] will pay that little bill you owe me." [illegible]e answered, "religion is religion and [illegible] is business." If that man's [illegible]dress [illegible]d have the smallpox his religion [illegible]uldn't [illegible]ch it.

—The Catholic Review attributes the recent attempts on the life of Emperor William as having the same origin. It thinks they were both "the natural fruit of the atheistic and rationalistic philosophy which has been taught in Germany during this generation, and which abolished God in order to put the state in His place." It further remarks that it is "scarcely an exaggeration to say that the only Christians left in Germany are the Catholics."

—It is stated by one of our exchanges that there are at this time in this country, thirty-five thousand girls from professedly Protestant families in attendance upon Roman Catholic schools; and it is claimed by the managers of these schools that one out of every ten of the girls in these schools is converted to the Romish faith; that three out of every ten learn to hate Protestantism for life, and that the large proportion of the whole become indifferent for the rest of their lives to all Protestantism in the simplicity of its faith and its worship.—Central Christian Advocate.

—Switzerland, with which the late pope had a falling out, and had two of his bishops expelled for contumacy, has received a letter from the new pope, deprecating the unfortunate condition of the Catholic church in that country. Along with much politeness, the reply contains this plainness: "As to the position of the Catholic church in Switzerland, which your holiness characterizes as deplorable, the federal council observes that the Catholic, like all other forms of religion, enjoys in Switzerland the fullest liberty—a liberty guaranteed by the constitution—the only condition being that ecclesiastical authorities shall respect the rights and prerogatives of the state, and the rights and franchises of individual citizens."

—The United Presbyterian assembly passed a resolution approving the deaconesses in the church. It resolved, "That, while the assembly does not find in scriptures sufficient authority for ordination of women to the office of deacon, it is convinced that pious women may, with profit to themselves, and with great advantage to the cause of suffering humanity, and for Christ, be organized to act as assistant to deacons; it being understood, however, that those so devoting themselves and banded together shall not be formed into sisterhoods, living apart from ordinary society, after the manner of certain popish devotees, or even as some associations found in certain denominations of the Protestant church."

—Rev Dr Teasdale has arrived in Atlanta to begin some of his gospel labors. We subserve one of the purposes of journalism when we announce from time to time the events in the religious community. It is with pleasure we announce the arrival in our city of this eminent divine. He will begin his labors at the Second Baptist church this morning, and will continue there during the week. He has just closed a very successful series of meetings in the Baptist church of Macon. Of him and his work the Macon Telegraph thus editorially speaks: This exemplary and greatly blessed evangelist of the most high God, after nearly a month of unexampled and tireless labor in our midst, left this morning to continue his mission of love and good will to all men in the church of the Rev. Dr. Spalding, of Atlanta. Never did any herald of the cross proclaim more searchingly and with greater fidelity the precious messages of the Saviour. And we may truthfully add, also, that seldom has the word of God, through the utterances of any of His servants or prophets been more signally blessed. To the very last the interest of the meeting seemed to deepen, and new mourners, from all classes of society embracing old and young, the rich and poor, came forward inquiring the way to salvation.

BURKE'S AMBITION.

THE GATE CITY GUARDS TO GO TO EUROPE.

The Grandest Military Project of the Season—To Dublin, London, Paris, Antwerp, Brussels and Berlin.

Some time ago there appeared in THE CONSTITUTION a small item to the effect that intended to carry his company, the "Gate City Guards," to Europe.

CAPT. J. F BURKE,

While Captain Burke had just conducted his company through one of the most brilliant expeditions ever planned and executed in the south, the item was discredited by many persons who thought it impossible that the captain of an Atlanta company would attempt to carry it on an excursion across the Atlantic. Even those who were disposed to credit the story

WERE AT A LOSS TO CONCEIVE

how the excursion could be arranged. It looked impossible that a whole company of Americans could be transported across the ocean and through the continent when it usually costs a single person $400 to $600 to make the trip.

We are pleased to be able this morning to give our readers positive information upon the subject of this trip.

In the first place, it is going to be made. Capt. Joe Burke is going, and he is going to take his company. That may be accepted as a settled fact. The company will go about the 1st of next June.

In the second place, Captain Burke will provide the means, as follows: He has made arrangements to charter a first-class steamer, which is now at work in one of the regular trans-Atlantic lines. He gets full control of this steamer from the moment he boards her at the Charleston wharf until she returns to that wharf. The crew, captain, servants, coal, etc., are all furnished with the ship, but no restaurant or eating arrangements. The cost of the ship for the 65 days embraced by the trip

WILL BE ABOUT $12,000

The steamer will come to the Charleston wharf to receive the excursionists. They will be taken on board and will go direct to New York, stopping there for a day or two, to give an exhibition of the kind of drilling and appearance the southern boys propose to make when they appear in the effete monarchies, and to get the proper American send-off as they start on their ocean trip

They will land at Queenstown on reaching the opposite shore, and go to Dublin on an excursion of a day or two. Returning to Queenstown, they will go up the Thames to London, and spend probably one week in the English capital, drilling in the presence of the royal guards and the queen, if they find it convenient to do so. Going down from London.

THEY WILL CROSS THE CHANNEL

and land at Havre. At this point they will leave the steamer and go over to Paris for a few days' jaunt in that wonderful city. They will drill against anything here that comes in their way, and will try and uphold the honor of our flag and superiority of our tactics.

Going back to Havre, they will proceed to Antwerp, where they will again leave the steamer and go to Brussels, where they hope to find "a sound of revelry by night" several times, and wake that once disturbed town into a new fever. They will then go back to Antwerp and go to Berlin. Our geography fails us just here, and we do not know whether they will go to Berlin by steamer or not; if there is any available water source they will go by steamer—if not they will go by rail. They will certainly reach Berlin, however, and show the Germans how to drill. If the emperor has not been successfully assassinated by that time they will probably appear before him. If he is dead they will appear before the next best man. After spending a few days in Berlin they will return to America stopping for a day or two in New York on their return to exhibit their medals and shake off their European airs. They will then sail south, and come home. The whole trip will consume about 65 days. This, of course, will be varied a little to meet emergencies, and accept invitations, but as the cost will be about $200 per day they will not stay much longer.

A WORD ABOUT THE MONEY.

And now as to the money for this grand trip.

The first source of revenue is from the company itself. Captain Burke has guaranteed that if each member of the company will put up $50 he will take him on the trip without any further expense from the day of leaving Atlanta to the day of the return to it. In order to be certain of having this money on hand, and of not feeling its loss severely, the members have agreed to deposit one dollar each per week in a special treasury from now until next June. By thus putting aside a trifle each week which none of them will miss, they will have their expenses for a European trip paid by the time the captain is ready to start them off The company fund thus raised will amount to something over $2 500

Besides this, Captain Burke proposes to carry general passengers on his chartered steamer. The regular fare for the proposed trip would be about $325. Captain Burke proposes to put it down to about $70. He can carry, he says, about 1,500 passengers. The ship will be fitted up with bunks and cabin regulations will be abolished. Every passenger will be considered a cabin passenger, and entitled to go to any part of the ship, and eat at the general table. If Captain Burke can get 200 passengers, besides his company, he will have the expenses of the trip about paid. If he could get 500, and this seems probable, in view of the immense reduction, and the prominent trips mapped out, his receipts would be about $35,000, and a very handsome profit thus assured. He says he thinks he can fill his ship, by which we suppose he means he could get 1,000 passengers, in the states of Georgia, Alabama and Carolina. If he can do this, his profit will be something immense.

Of course the $70 includes only the actual passage money. But there will be a fine restaurant on the ship, at which Captain Burke will guarantee good fare at reasonable prices. He says that he can assure parties before starting, that the whole trip can be made for $150. We suppose board can be secured from the ship's restaurant at $30 a month.

Another source of revenue will be the lease of the ship's privileges. The restaurant ought to command a very handsome price—the baker shop should bring something handsome, and so of the bar and other privileges.

In addition to this Capt. Burke proposes to carry freight, for which he will be paid at the regular price he hopes to not only get enough to entertain his company in grand style, but also to lay up a pretty surplus. There is nothing of the Mulberry Sellers about Capt. Burke. He is one of our most capable and prudent financiers and a leading capitalist. He has put his head to this project, and is going to carry it out. That he will do so successfully no one who knows him can doubt. It is our opinion that he will make money out of it. The excursion will leave just at the beginning of the dull season, and almost any business man can get off for the two months occupied by the trip. The prices are so low that a person can actually take the trip over the ocean and on the continent for quite as little as he could go to any of our summer resorts. The passage for the whole trip is hardly more than would have to be paid to a summer resort, and the board on the ship is less than could be had at any of the springs. We predict that a very large number of our people will go on the excursion.

FROM THESE VARIED SOURCES OF REVENUE

A GALA TIME EXPECTED

It may be perfectly assured that the excursionists will have a good time.

The Gate City Guards will be the first native military company that ever crossed the ocean from this side. It will of course excite great interest. Each one of the Guards will have a new uniform, and fifty-two men will be drilled for the trip. It is proposed to make them work as near perfect as human nerve and muscle can be In view of the heavy work ahead of the Guards, it is doubtful if they will enter any local contests this year.

With Lieutenant Scrutchin in charge of the drilling, the proficiency they may attain will be something that America may be proud of.

CAPT. BURKE HAS PROMINENT ACQUAINTANCES

on the other side of the water, in England and France, and fine connections in our own country. His company will go under the very best possible auspices, and will meet a warm reception It is not at all out of the range of probability that the Georgia boys will go through the manual before Queen Victoria, Paddy McMahon, and all the other big men and women. They will do themselves credit wherever they go.

NOTES ON THE EXCURSION.

—The trip to Charleston only cost the Guards three dollars apiece. The biggest thing for the least money on record. Charleston spent over $8,000 on the boys.

—Captain Burke will exercise the utmost discretion in accepting passengers for the excursion. The company will be select, and the company will keep good order on the ship.

—Excursionists can leave the steamer at any time after Queenstown is reached, and rejoin it on its return trip.

The Arrest of Two Murderers.

Friday afternoon last, two white men reached this city on the Western and Atlantic railroad as prisoners. They were in the care of the sheriff of Haralson county, and one other guard. The men were fastened together securely with a rope.

Upon inquiry at the jail yesterday afternoon we were informed that the men were Horatio Chisholm and Claudius Chisholm, two brothers, and were charged with the murder of E L Lambert, about eighteen miles from Cedartown, in Harralson county, on the 19th of April last The men were originally from Polk county, but were arrested in Harralson county three days after the murder was committed.

WHO WAS KILLED

The Chisholm brothers appear to be about the ages of 26 and 30. They have had a preliminary examination, and failing to give bond, have been committed. The elder Chisholm thinks that he and his brother will be admitted to bail in a few days, as the amount of the bond required for himself and brother have already been assessed.

Dr. Janes to Be Re-appointed.

Yesterday a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION was reliably informed by a friend of Dr T P Janes, commissioner of agriculture for Georgia, that Governor Colquitt had signified an intention to

RE-APPOINT HIM

to this important position. It is well-known that the present term of Dr. Janes does not expire until August, but for several months past Governor Colquitt has been the recipient of numerous applications for the office, many of which were strongly backed. These petitions were so vigorously pressed and so persistently presented by the friends of the applicants that the governor merely signified his intention to re-appoint Dr Janes to avoid the inconvenience of hearing applications and recommendations after his mind was made up on the question.

Off For California.

Yesterday Governor Joseph E Brown and wife, with Judge James Jackson and wife, left on the 2 p m train by the W & A railroad for an extensive tour of the great west. The party went in the splendid officers' car of the W & A road, and will enjoy the luxury of travel in the fullest sense. They will visit all the great cities of the west and will then go to California. The entire trip will last over six weeks We wish them a happy time.

Cave Springs Excursion.

Elsewhere in our columns will be found an advertisement of an excursion to Cave Springs on the 20th inst, on the occasion of the closing of the Deaf and Dumb institute.

A marriage of a couple, both deaf and dumb, will lend much interest to the occasion.

We learn that the citizens of Rome are also anxious to show the excursionists some attention. Altogether this excursion promises to be one of the most pleasant ever given, and at the low price of $2.50 we feel sure there will be a crowd.

The Atlanta Pomological Society.

The Atlanta Pomological society met at the state agricultural bureau yesterday morning at the usual hour. The meeting was well attended by a very large number of the fruit growers of this section of the state. and the display offered was by far the largest made the present season. The varieties were much more extensive and the fruit seems to be of a finer quality. The meeting was called to order with President Robinson in the chair, and Secretary M. Cole on hand.

FRUIT EXHIBITS.

Mr. Woodruff, of Griffin, sent the society two bottles of wine from Concord grapes made on his farm near Griffin.

Mr. S. B Robson placed on exhibition a bottle of scuppernong wine of his own manufacture.

These varieties of domestic wines were drank by the members of the society who discussed freely the flavor of each brand

Mr DeGive was on hand with a bottle of Port wine manufactured by himself.

On motion of Mr Johnson a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Woodruff for the wine sent to the society.

On motion of Dr. Hape Mr. DeGive was requested to prepare a paper on the cultivation of grapes and the making of wine; also the best varieties of grapes from which to make wine.

The subject of blight to pear trees was discussed fully and some valuable light was thrown on this fatal disease to fruit trees.

The committee appointed several weeks ago, to take into consideration the matter of holding an exhibition of fruit reported progress and asked for further time.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to prepare a premium list for fruit for the use of the North Georgia stock and fair association, reported progress and asked for further time.

The meeting then adjourned and the display of fruit followed suit.

A Dry Goods Emporium.

A reporter of THE CONSTITUTION yesterday went through the huge dry goods establishment of John Ryan, which has become famous all over the state.

We were surprised to find such an immense stock of goods, comprising so rich a variety. Mr. Ryan has a store which runs all the way from Whitehall through to Broad street, and he occupies three stories and a basement, which is as good as most stores. In this great space he has a complete stock of dry goods of all kinds. Prints at the lowest figures, the best domestics, all sorts of hosiery. Ladies complete linen suits a specialty. Imported cassimeres and cloths of the finest quality are offered very low. Umbrellas, trunks, valises, etc, occupy a part of this big display.

Mr. Ryan has a large stock of gents', ladies' and children's boots and shoes, which he buys so largely as to offer them at the very best figures.

In silks he can offer such a stock as is seldom seen in the south, and prices remarkably low.

Connected with his dry goods department, is a complete and elegant carpet store, where the finest upholstery is done and lambrequins of the richest design are made to order. Carpets of every style and price in abundance and variety are shown here.

In the department of corsets, notions, table linen ribbons, etc., we have seldom seen so complete a stock.

Mr. Ryan emloys thirty-six men to supply the wants of his immense trade. Besides doing an immense retail trade, he offers to merchants figures which will demand attention.

He is widely known as one of the largest and most successful dry goods men in the state.

Base Ball.

A match game of base ball will be played on the grounds near McPherson barracks Tuesday morning next, between the Chucks, of Marietta, and the Alerts of this city. The game will be called promptly at ten o'clock, instead of at three p.m., as previously reported in THE CONSTITUTION This change of hour has been made at the request of the Chucks, several of whom desire to return home in the afternoon after the game is played. The Chucks will reach this city at an early hour Tuesday morning They will be the guests of the clubs of our city.

BEHIND THE RETURNS.

HAYES AND EVARTS REFUSE TO PRODUCE CERTAIN PAPERS.

Brewster Tells a Very Innocent Story—Kellogg Invited to Speak.

WASHINGTON, June 15—Orlando H. Brewster, one of the members of the electoral college in Louisiana during the election of 1876, was examined briefly in regard to his connection with the signing of the certificates of election. He testified that he attended the meeting of the electoral college in New Orleans December 6; was chosen in the afternoon to fill the vacancy arising from his non-attendance in the morning; counted the votes for president and vice-president and the college adjourned.

A THIN YARN.

In answer to the question when he signed any certificate of votes cast, the witness said: "I have no recollection of the time when I signed them. I think either that afternoon or the next morning. Two or three weeks afterwards I heard a defect existed in the certificate for the state of Louisiana; heard it from H. Conquest Clarke, who was the secretary of Gov. Kellogg and was acting as clerk of the electoral college. As nearly as I can remember, he stated that the defect was a clerical defect. Some of our friends thought perhaps it was of no importance, but to be sure, thought a new set should be made out. We had but very little conversation on the subject. My impression is that he said it should read "lists," in the plural, where it then said "list." It is very indistinct in my memory. Immediately after that conversation, he presented papers and asked me to sign them in the governor's office. I don't remember who were present, but I think there were men in the office at the time. That is all the connection I had with it.

ANGELIC TRUST.

The witness here identified the returns which were shown him and his signature on them, including his signature on the envelope. He testified that he did not know how many times he signed his name on the first occasion or second either. It seemed to him that it was more than a half dozen times. He had nothing to do with drawing them up He merely signed as he was obliged to, supposing that it was all correct. Somebody pointed the place out to him and told him where to sign. He added that he did not know whether anybody else signed or not.

In answer to General Butler he stated that he held the office of surveyor general up to the time of the election. He sent in his resignation three or four days after the election, but asked that it should be held back till the fourth of November.

COX'S QUESTIONS.

Mr. Cox.—Did you undertake to make any comparisons yourself between the first and second set of papers to see what the difference was?

A. I left it entirely to the clerk.

Q You acted upon his telling you that you were correcting a formal error in the papers you had drawn up at the meeting?

A. Yes.

Q. You say it was conducted in privacy?

A Yes, sir. I was sent for several times during the day. They said I was wanted at the governor's office.

Q Did the messenger come direct from the governor?

A. No, not direct.

Q. When you went into the governor's office, did you see the governor?

A. No, sir; I saw Clarke, and he called my attention to this matter right away, and I knew then that was the object in sending for me.

Q Didn't it excite your suspicion a little that as the letter "S" only was left, out, he had not the original papers there and had to execute a new set?

A. No; I supposed it was the anxiety of our friends to have everything exactly right.

The witness was examined at considerable length, but nothing was elicited in addition to what has already been stated.

HAYES SHIELDING THE VISITING STATESMEN.

The following letter from the state department was submitted to the committee by the chairman:

Washington, D. C., June 12, 1878—To Hon. Clarkson N. Potter, chairman of the committee of investigation, etc., house of representatives—Sir: I have had the honor to receive from the clerk of the committee of which you are the chairman the followig resolution;

"Resolved, That the secretary of state be requested to furnish this committee all the original communications, whether written, printed or telegraphic, now in or which may have been in the office of the secretary of state, and which may be under his control, received by him or other persons in the state department, purporting to come from either or all of the members of the commission of which Mr. McVeigh and Mr. Harlan were members, which commission was sent by the president to New Orleans, La., in April, 1877, and also certified copies of all communications, whether written, printed or telegraphic, delivered to or sent to said commission or to all or either of the members of said commission from the state department or the president, which passed through said department."

Upon laying this report before the president, I am instructed to say that while he considers it not at all incompatible with the public interests that all documents sought for by this resolution should be made public, yet he is unable to perceive that the subject embraced in said resolution was within the authority for the inquiry imparted to your committee by the house of representatives. The president has, upon this view of the matter, directed me to communicate to the house of representatives the information sought in the resolution of your committee for such disposition by that honorable body as shall seem to it meet.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant, WM M. EVARTS.

CLARK AND DARRALL.

Clark and Darrall were examined this afternoon without any important developments.

INVITED TO SPEAK.

Senator Kellogg was invited to attend the committee, but replied that it was not convenient at present. The committee adjourned to Monday.

A Unusual Spectacle for the Middle of June.

NEWPORT, R I, June 14.—Passengers on the Boston train last evening saw an unusual spectacle, it being a genuine snow storm. The ground at Raynham, on the old Colony road, was completely covered.

Fire in Albany.

ALBANY, June 14 A fire in Isaac White & Son's store, wholesale dealers in notions and dry goods, on Broadway, this morning, destroyed $50,000 worth of stock; insured for $25,000.

THE FEDERAL FOCUS.

The River and Harbor Bill—The Session Extended Until Tuesday.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 6—Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, submitted a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States so as to allow the president to approve any part of the appropriation bill and to disapprove any portion of such bill as he may think proper. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

Mr. Wadleigh, of New Hampshire, from the committee on privileges and elections, to whom was referred the resolution of the senate, adopted at the last session, instructing that committee to inquire into the charges that the election of L. F. Grover, a U. S. senator from Oregon, was procured by fraud and bribery, reported that the evidence taken did not sustain any of such charges against him, and he moved that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the subject. So ordered.

Leave was given to various members of the committee to file their views on the case.

Mr. Windom, of Minnessota, called up a concurrent resolution submitted by him yesterday, extending the session till 12 o'clock, Thursday, June 20. After some discussion as to the condition of the business, an amendment submitted by Mr. Whyte to extend the session till 12 o'clock, Wednesday 19th instead of Thursday 20th, was rejected—yeas 25, nays 26

The original resolution extending the session till Thursday, was then agreed to—yeas 35, nays 9—and it was immediately sent to the house for the concurrence of that body.

The senate reports of the conference on the army and river and harbor bills were adopted. There were 90 present.

The senate confirmed Leonard as district attorney for Louisiana.

The senate agreed to the concurrent resolution of the house to extend the session till 4 p m on Tuesday, June 18.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

In the river and harbor bill as passed, the senate receded from its disagreement to the house item of $15,000 for New river, Virginia. The amount for expenditure on White and St. Francis rivers, Arkansas, is fixed at $40,000.

THE HOUSE

has resumed the international revenue bill. The reduction of tax to 16 cents has passed, and the pending question is upon allowing planters to make certain dispositions of tobacco of their own growth.

The report of the conference committee on the river and harbor appropriation bill was agreed to, amid a good deal of confusion, by a vote of 150 to 98.

The consideration of the bill amending the internal revenue laws was resumed, and the house struck out the amendment adopted several days ago, repealing the provision of law relating to the removal of causes from state to federal courts. An amendment was adopted, fixing the 1st of Sept.,'78, as the date upon which the reduction in the tax on tobacco should take effect. No final action was reached.

The conference report on the army bill was made and agreed to, the army strength being limited to 25,000, and the section prohibiting the use of the army to enforce civil law being retained.

The bill introduced in the house this evening by Mr. Phelps, of Connecticut, provides simply for a uniform duty of 2½ cents per pound on all imported sugar, concentrated milado, concentrated molasses, concrete tank bottoms and syrup of sugar, corn juice not above No. 16 in color, and a duty of 4 cents per pound upon all above that standard. The bill was referred to the committee on ways and means.

MEXICAN CLAIMS.

The conference committee on Mexican claims agreed that the president, as a matter of courtesy to Mexico on her request, may rehear the LaAbra and Weil cases. It is expressly declared that this action is not to be regarded as an expression of opinion regarding the rightfulness of claims. The house passed the conference report on the river and harbor bill substantially as amended by the senate.

NOMINATIONS.

These are the nominations to-day: E S. Hammond, district judge for east Tennessee; James Hill, for postmaster at Vicksburg; R. D. Abernathy, for postmaster at Okalona. Leonard was confirmed as district attorney for Louisiana.

A TELEGRAPHIC BLUNDER.

[NOTE TO EDITORS.—The following is sent for the information of all in response to an inquiry: "Mr J. E McDaniel, New Orleans: Barr sent the report and he is not here. The river and harbor bill was non-concurred in, however, and I can't imagine what ground he had for saying it had passed. The house has just received it from the conference committee.—W. P. PHILLIPS."]

ABBOTT'S MISFORTUNE.

Robbed and Thrown Into the River.

CAIRO, June 15.—At 2 a m yesterday Jas. A. Abbott, agent of the Adams' express at Golconda, was awakened by four men who said they wanted him to go to his store for a sick person. On entering the store they demanded an eight hundred dollar express package supposed to be in Abbott's possession. The package had not arrived, but they robbed Abbott of seventy dollars on his person, then forced him into a skiff and after proceeding down the river a few miles threw him overboard. Abbott reached the shore and gave the alarm, which resulted in the capture of a stranger supposed to be one of the parties.

THE LIBERIAN EMIGRANTS.

News of their Arrival Received in Charleston.

CHARLESTON, June 15.—A cable special from the News and Courier's correspondent, dated Sierre Leone, May 19, via Madiera, announces the arrival at the former place of the bark Azore, which sailed from Charleston April 21, with two hundred and fifty negro immigrants. There was much suffering on the voyage. Water having become short, ship fever broke out and twenty three immigrants died. The rest were in good spirits at having reached Africa.

Another Chief on the Warpath.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—A special from Boise City says Major Downey, on the way to his command at Sheep Ranche, has received orders to return to Fort Harney in consequence of the information received that Ezar, a Piute chief, at the head of four hundred warriors, had resolved to go upon the warpath.

The Dufferince.

LONDON, June 15.—The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says that the colonial office wished Lord Dufferin to remain in Canada as governor general of the dominion for another term, but Lord Dufferin declined, and will return to England about September.

Quebec all Quiet.

QUEBEC, June 15.—The laborers on the government works, street railway, gas works and different mills and workshops have returned to work. More ringleaders of the riots have been arrested.

Jovellar, Going Home.

HAVANA, June 15.—It is officially announced that General Jovellar will resign the government into the hands of General Campos, on the 17th, at which time Jovellar sails for Spain.

Cheap White Goods.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Charles Scott & Co., importers of white goods failed. Liabilities quarter of a million dollars.

The Bennett Challenge.

YORK, PA., June 15.—Vixen won the Bennett challenge prize for sloops. Peerless won that for schooners.

They Want Wives.

BILL ARP.

HE DWELLS A SEASON AMONG THE PATRIARCHS.

Recollections of Old Folks' Home—the Grand Rush to Please the Children—The Chief End and Glory of Man—A Few Questions of an Embarrassing Nature.

Special Correspondence Constitution.

MR. EDITUR:—This is a most blessed land—where everything grows that man is obleeged to have, and a power of good things throw'd in just to minister to his pleasure. The summer sun is now ripening the fruits of the earth, and when I see childern and grand-childern and nefews and neeses rejoicin' in their wanderin's over the field and orchards, it carries me back to the blessed days of childhood. The old-field plums and the wild strawberries and cherries, mulberries and blackberries were worth more then than gold, and it made no difference who was priest or president, or how rich was Astor or Girard or any of the nabors, or whether Sal Jackson's bonnet was purtier than Melyann Tompson's or not. What a glorious luxury it was to go barefooted and wade in the branch and go a saining and climb trees and hunt birds' nests and carry the corn to mill and leave it, just to get to run a hoss race home again. I know now that those days were the happiest, and so I wont to rob my posterity of the same sort, if I can help it. I want 'em to love the old homestead, and I want childerns' children to gather about it and cherish its memory. What a burlesque on childhood's joy it must be to visit grand ma and grand-pa in a crowded city, penned up in brick walls with a few sickly flowers in front and a garden in the rear about as big as a wagon sheet. But that's the way the thing is drifting. Them calculatin' yankees have long ago done away with the 'old back log' and the blazing hearth-stone and substituted a furnace in the basement and a few iron pipes running around the walls and a hole in the floor to let the heat in. All that may be economy, but in my opinion a man can't raise good stock in no such a way. They'll be picayunish and nice and sharp featured and gimlety, but they wont do to bet on like them children that's been bro't up 'round a fire place on a hundred-acre farm and had plenty of fresh air and latitude.

Mr. Editur, pleasin' the children is about all the majority of mankind are livin' for, though they don't know it; and if they did they wouldent acknowledge it. It is emphatically the great business of life. We look on with wonder and amazement at the busy crowds in a great city that are ever goin' to and fro like a fiddler's elbow, and eight out of ten of 'em are workin' and strugglin' to please and maintain the children. It's the excuse for all the mad rush of business that hurries mankind through the world. It's the apology for nearly all the cheatin' and stealin' and lyin' in the land, and in a heap of such cases I have thought the good angels would drop tears enuf on the big book to blot 'em out forever. The trouble is, Mr. Editur, that most people are always livin' on a strain, tryin' to do a little too much for their children, and scufflin' against wind and tide to git just a little ahead of their nabors. Some of 'em won't let a ten year old boy go to meetin' or to Sunday school if he can't fix up as fine as other boys. They won't let him go barefooted nor wear a patch behind nor before nor ride bareback nor go dirty and so the domestic pressure for finery becomes tremendious. Jesso with bonnets and parasols and kid gloves and silk dresses and chanyware and carpets and winder curtins—and a thousand thing, that cost money and run up the outgo a heap bigger than the incum. Generally speakin' this home pressure ain't a noisy one, but, on the contrary, is very silent and sad—so sad that a body would think there was sumbody dead in the house, and so after awhile sumhow or sumhow else the finery comes and thus for awhile all is sereen. But the collapse is shore to cum sooner or later, and the children ain't to blame for it. Sumtimes when I ruminate upon the meanness of mankind I wish the children never got grown for they don't get mean or foolish untill they do. Just think what a sweet time of it old mother Eve and Mrs. Commodore Noah and aunt Metusaler had with 30 or 40 of 'em wearin' bibs and aperns untill they were 50 years old, toggin' along after their dadies untill they were a hundred. I don't think old Father Woodruff could have stood that. When a man who ain't no yearlin' gits married, and ten or a dozen of 'em cum right straight along in a row, and by the time he gets on the piazza, tired and grunty, they begin to climb all over him and under him and betwixt him and on the back of his chair and the top of his head, its a little more than his venerable natur can stand. On such occasions, it ain't to be wondered at that he gently shakes himself aloose and exclaims, "Lord have mercy upon me." But then, the like of this must be endured. Its a part of the bargin, implied if not expressed, as the lawyers say, and no man ought to dodge it. Humor 'em, play hoss and frolic with 'em, wash 'em, undress 'em, tell 'em stories about Jack and the bean stalk, and what you done when you was a little boy, scratch their backs and put 'em to bed, and if they can't sleep, get up with 'em away in the night, and nod around in your night-gown untill they can. Let 'em trot after you a heap in week days and all day of a Sunday, and don't try to shirk off the trouble and the responsibility on the good woman who bore 'em. Solomon says: "Children are the chief end of a man, and the glory of his declinin' years," and raisin' of 'em is the biggest bisness I know of in this life, and the most responsible in the life to come. Yours, BILL ARP.

P. S.—Harris keeps on axen me about the Bumble bee's gimlet. I reckon he must belong to the bug buro, or may be he's been stung by one of them insects, and wants to find out whether it bit him from before or bored him from behind. If he hadent been raised a town boy he would have known that Bumble bees make their nests in the ground, and Carpenter bees in wood. Them last go in pairs, and ain't got any gimlet, but gnaw the hole out with a gouge. They are all called Bumble bees because when they fly off from a yaller blossom they make a noise like a bumb a singin thro the air. Please "ax me sumthin hard." B. A.

N. B.—Ax Harris how a ground squirrel digs his hole without leaving any dirt around the top, and how big was that giraff's egg that he said he saw at the Smithsonian institute? B. A.

THE POTTER INVESTIGATION.

Letter From Senator Hill.

Editors Chronicle and Constitutionalist:

Several friends have asked me to give to the public my views of the wisdom and propriety of the investigation ordered by the house of representatives, known as the Potter investigation.

I think a correct knowledge of the inner history of the famous presidential count would add much to a correct understanding of the wisdom and necessity of that investigation. My own views were clearly indicated in what I said in the first caucus held by the democratic members of the house immediately after the first decision by the electoral commission made on the Florida case. The decision was made on the 9th of February, 1877, was published on Saturday, the 10th, and my recollection is, the caucus was held on Monday night, the 12th. The partisan purpose of a majority of the commission was manifestly revealed by that decision. The indignation of the democrats was intense. Before going into the caucus I thoroughly considered the situation I fully made up my mind as to the policy we should pursue. In the caucus four democrats—able and excellent gentlemen—three from the west and one from the east, made very earnest speeches in favor of using every means the rules would permit to prevent the completion of the count by the 4th of March. I made the first speech against the policy. It was so kindly received that I wrote out my remarks afterwards and preserved [illegible] to give them to the public, and I enclose you a copy for that purpose. Several other speeches were made in suport of these views. The result of the debate was the passage of a resolution by a large majority, pledging the democrats of the house to proceed with the count according to the constitution and the electoral bill. And this policy was faithfully pursued to the end. In the light of these facts the following propositions are made exceedingly plain:

1. It is ridiculous to charge the democrats with a revolutionary purpose now to oust Mr. Hayes when they so emphatically refused then to adopt even dilatory proceedings, under the rules, to prevent his inauguration.

2. Those who refused to countenance any regular or doubtful measure then, in order to preserve the peace of the country, stood pledged to "bring to light" the frauds afterwards, to the end that the guilty might be punished by exposure and such dangerous wrongs be prevented in the future. The democratic party would be false to itself and unworthy of the confidence of the country if they did not faithfully redeem this pledge.

3. In the light of this caucus action on the 12th of February, how absurd becomes the charge that this policy was adopted in pursuance of a bargain between southern democrats and Mr. Hayes's friends. The alleged bargain was made two weeks after this caucus resolution was adopted. The parties to this bargain were a few individuals who represented nobody but themselves. The bargain did not influence or control a single vote in reaching the final result. I do not believe it had any motive but a little personal notoriety—a distemper, by the way, which troubles us at every turn—and it has had no effect but to enable the republicans to smirch, in the public mind, the most patriotic record ever made by any political party. I never heard of the so-called bargain until I saw a notice of it in the papers after the adjournment of congress. I have always believed, and still believe, that this action of this democratic caucus saved our constitutional system from final subversion by preventing a pretense for the renewal of civil war by Grant and his followers. But our work will not be complete and our duty will not be done until we bring to the gaze of a blushing world the basest frauds that were ever perpetrated in history, and perpetrated for no purpose but to enable the republican party to hold the offices of the government against the will of the people. No man acquainted with the scenes of the presidential count, and with the motives of those who submitted to wrong rather than hazard the public peace, will ever charge the democratic party with revolution. The same men are here now who were here then, and they do not intend and will not permit anything irregular, illegal or revolutionary. But they will never condone the frauds, nor give any quarter to the men, high or low, who committed those frauds. If the American people shall ever again trust the party that so wickedly defrauded them, then the American people are willing to defraud themselves, and are ready to surrender their liberties to rogues. I believe every prediction in the short speech I send you will become history if democrats do not get afraid to expose frauds. BENJ. H. HILL.

THE PRESIDENT'S TITLE.

Report of the House Judiciary Committee.

The committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred H. R. bill No.—and the resolutions of the legislature of Maryland directing judicial proceedings to give effect to the electoral vote of that state in the last election for president and vice president of the United States, report back said bill and resolutions with a recommendation that the said bill do not pass.

Your committee are of the opinion that congress has no power under the constitution to confer upon the supreme court of the United States the original jurisdiction sought for it by this bill. The only clause of the constitution that could be plausibly invoked to enable congress to provide the legal machinery for the litigation proposed in that which gives the supreme court original jurisdiction in "cases" or "controversies" between a state and the citizens of another state. The committee are of the opinion that the expression "cases" and "controversies" was not intended by the framers of the constitution to embrace an original proceeding by a state in the supreme court of the United States to oust any incumbent from a political office filled by the declaration and decision of the houses of congress clothed with the constitutional power to count the electoral votes and decide as a final tribunal upon the election of president and vice president.

The forty-fourth congress selected a commission to count the votes for president and vice president, reserving to itself the right to ratify or reject such count. By the joint action of the two houses it ratified the count made by the commission, and thus made it the expression of its own judgment.

All the departments of the federal government, all the state governments in their relations to federal authority, foreign nations, the people of the United States, all the material interests and industries of the country have acquiesced in and acted in accordance with the pronounced finding of that congress. In the opinion of this committee the present congress has no power to undo the work of its predecessor in counting the electoral vote, or to confer upon any judicial tribunal the right to pass upon and perhaps set aside the action of that predecessor in reference to a purely political question, the decision of which is confided by the constitution in congress.

But apart from these fundamental objections to the bill under consideration, there are features and provisions in it which are entirely impracticable. Your committee can find no warrant of authority to summon the chief justices of the supreme courts of the several states to sit at Washington as a jury to try any case, however grave and mighty may be its nature. The right to summon must carry with it the power to enforce obedience to the mandate, and the committee can see no means by which the judicial officers of a state can be compelled to assume the functions of jurors in the supreme court of the United States.

There are other objections to the practical working of the bill under consideration, to which we do not think it necessary to refer.

It may be true that the state of Maryland has been, in the late election for president and vice-president, deprived of her just and full right in deciding who were legally chosen, by reason of frauds perpetrated by returning boards in some of the states. It may also be true, that these fundamental acts were countenanced or encouraged or participated in, by some who now enjoy high offices, as the fruit of such frauds. It is due the present generation of the people of this country and their posterity, and to the principles on which our government is founded—that all evidence tending to establish the fact of such fraudulent practices, should be calmly, carefully, and vigorously examined. But your committee are of the opinion that the consequence of such examination if it discloses guilt upon the part of any in high official position, should not be an effort to set aside the judgment of a former congress as to the election of a president and vice-president, but should be confined to the punishment by legal and constitutional means of the offenders, and the preservation and perpetuation of the evidences of their guilt, so that the American people may be protected from a re-occurrence of the crime.

Your committee therefore recommend the adoption of the accompanying resolution:

Resolved, That the two houses of the 44th congress having counted the votes cast for president and vice-president of the United States, and having declared Rutherford B Hayes to be duly elected president and William A Wheeler to be elected vice-president, there is no power in any subsequent congress to reverse that declaration; nor can any such power be exercised by the courts [illegible]

PARIS PENCILLINGS.

RECORD OF A TRIP TO THE GREAT FRENCH EXPOSITION OF 1878.

The Exhibits Made by the Different Southern States—Their Character and Extent Noted—The Inefficiency of Commissioner LeDuc.

LETTER XI.

Editorial Correspondence of The Constitution

PARIS, May 27th, 1878.

The exhibits belonging to the United States section and which represent the share which the southern states have in the collective exposition are very nearly all in place. In advance of the official catalogue, I send you a full and authentic list of these exhibits. Only about one-fifth of them were included in the lists published in the New York papers in March, for the reason that the greater portion of the exhibits were collected by the agricultural department at Washington, and were not reported until their arrival here.

THE WHOLE NUMBER of exhibits from the southern states and the Indian territory (which belongs to the southern field) you will note amount to one hundred and nineteen, divided, as follows:

Louisiana	35
North Carolina	25
Virginia	15
Kentucky	10
Maryland	8
Tennessee	7
Indian Territory	7
Georgia	6
South Carolina	3
Florida	2
Texas	1
Total	119

These figures do not include Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas, that are not represented here by a single exhibit; nor Missouri and West Virginia, which I have not chosen to consider representative southern states in this connection, but which are poorly enough represented to entitle them to that distinction.

Before making any comments upon or deductions from the representation here indicated I will give you in the order of their importance, the list by states.

LOUISIANA.

From New Orleans:

Paul B Leeds, salt; Roberts & Co, Louisiana woods; Edmond Bourgeois, Perique tobacco; Russell & Hall, Louisiana tobacco; P E Sarrazin, tobacco and snuff; Benjamin F Smith, cotton seed hull felting; C L Gogin, ramie fibre; Heath, Pippy & Lara, American moss; Dr J F Knapp, ramie and ramie fabrics; Louisiana Oil Company, cotton seed and its products; Bienville Oil Works, ditto; A A Maginnis' Sons, cotton feed oil, etc; Hy G Hister, cotton; Rene deGas, lint cotton; Cotton Exchange, cotton types; G W Dunbar & Sons, canned goods; Forstall & Learose, pine tar, turpentine and rosin; Angelo Socala, rice; Webster & Dillingham, choice flour; J Foerster, rice; H A Battles, rice; Herbert Bonzane, pecans; Th. FLORIDA.

Mrs. John F. Whitney, St. Augustine, feather flowers; Commissioner Hart, Jacksonville, brings specimens of Florida woods.

TEXAS.

Represented only by Charles A. Postley, of Austin, who exhibits a binder and reaper of his own invention.

THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

J W Jordan, cotton; Indian international agricultural society, tobacco; Ben Liftin, tobacco; Joshua Ross, dressed buckskin; Rosalie Ross, hominy; John A Foreman, corn of all varieties; Mrs A P Adair, sugar corn. All these exhibits are from Muscogee, in the Indian territory.

As you may well infer, these varied articles go to swell the volume of a very heterogeneous mass of products, intended to be an index to the world of the agricultural greatness and capa[illegible] have been attainable, and I write you a most humiliating truth when I say that the south had far better not been represented in this department than as she is. It would have been better to have left her possibilities in this line open to conjecture rather than to have invited a judgment upon the exhibition here presented.

PECULIAR FEATURES.

Among the peculiar facts that will be noted is the prominent one that the best represented states are Louisiana, North Carolina and Virginia. They occupy the places that those acquainted with the condition of affairs and of material progress in the south would expect to see held by Texas, Georgia and Kentucky. Indeed, leaving out the emigration interests that appear to be paramount incentives to the Texans, Georgia should appear here as the leading state of the south. Her usual apathy places her at an enormous disadvantage upon such occasions. It is hard to convince the investigator at one of these world's fairs that Georgia occupies any respectable place among the producing states of the union, when such devastated, debt-ridden and bankrupt commonwealths as Louisiana and Virginia make exhibits far superior to Georgia in every respect. I do not know when a more profitable occasion has offered itself to our people than this and that they have not come forward to embrace its exceptional advantages is to me a source of profound regret. Our vast timber and mineral interests could have been, at small cost, so presented here as to attract the attention of men and capital earnestly and eagerly soliciting employment and investment. Almost daily I have heard inquiries directed to our American representatives having for their object the obtainance of such information. I have given many particulars concerning our Georgia resources to inquiring foreigners. The records of fortunes made in the south, the press discussion of the future of that section under conditions of peace and financial ease have come abroad and awakened an interest that is astonishing. But capital does not move in obedience to rumor and prophecies. These people who are anxious to put their energies and money into productive channels prefer first to know what they may reasonably hope for in return. Such was the information, such the tangible evidences, that we ought to have had here for them.

Another peculiarity of the above list of exhibits is that 22, or nearly one-fifth, of them are exhibits of tobacco or its products. Tobacco is shown in all shapes and one might from this show reasonably imagine that one half of the people in the south were always engaged in raising and manufacturing tobacco for the other half to chew and smoke. In these countries chewing "dog tail," "nigger heel," plug, or fine cut, always excites great curiosity and opens the way to a thousand queer questions. The "fellow who chaws" is a rare person in these lands. In France I have never seen a Frenchman with a quid in his mouth. They deem it a horribly naseous and filthy practice and a Frenchwoman who would dare to lead an assault of the sans-culottes of the commune would sudder with horror at the sight of a man squirting a mouthful of tobacco-juice upon the pavement. So much for how people are educated!

Still another noticeable fact is that only 15 of these 119 exhibits are classified outside of the list of agricultural products. Nearly all of them belong in that category, and are evidences of how we deem the affairs of the soil of paramount importance to our section. I do not know but that the idea is reasonable enough, but the proportion does not at all indicate the real relation of the mechanical and industrial arts in the occupations of our people. Under all the circumstances we can understand how the true proposition fails to be presented, but it is rather too much to expect of the foreigner that he should know the facts and make the right allowances.

As the installation of the agricultural exhibit is not yet complete I do not propose to enter upon a description of its particular features, whether for better or worse, but I deem it not inopportune to say that the whole management of it, from first to last has been

A MOST MISERABLE FAILURE.

It was nominated in the law that Commissioner LeDuc should gather and see to the proper exposition of the exhibits illustrative of our agricultural interests. He had $10,000 placed at his disposal and all the facilities of the department of agriculture. He went about the business tardily and wholly without system or definite plan. He sent persons here and there and picked up whatever he could most conveniently use, without reference to its representative character or its quality as a specimen. I do not write at random. The facts will support the assertion The veriest ignoramus in our agricultural history and in the present status of production in America ought to blush at the result of LeDuc's endeavors, as here exhibited. Instead of congress advancing him to the dignity of a cabinet officer they ought to abolish him and attach his department to the postoffice, where the great seed dispensatory properly belongs. Judged by this evidence his agricultural knowledge would not furnish a good primer for a Georgia field hand. S. W. S.

P. S. Gen. Pierce M. B Young, after stopping ten days in London and having a bit of acclimatisation fever, arrived here last night and is stopping at the Grand hotel for a few days. He will take permanent apartments in a day or two. He is looking well and will doubtless treasure up many reminiscences of Paris for his Georgia friends.

THE BERLIN CONGRESS.

Rumors from Radziwill Palace.

LONDON, June 15.—Dispatches from Berlin to the Standard and Post says Lord Beaconsfield, in a speech in the congress on Thursday, called attention to the perils attaching to the military situation at Constantinople. The Post's correspondent states that Lord Beaconsfield demanded an immediate change that would remove from a dangerous proximity the Russian and Turkish armies in Roumelia, and expressed the hopes that the Russian delegates would be able at the next sitting to announce that the Russian troops had been withdrawn.

PROSPECTS OF A SESSION.

A special to the Daily News from Berlin says Lord Beaconsfield will depart from Berlin next week, whilst Count Andrassy has arranged to stay a month. This causes the belief which is encouraged by the Russian and English plenipotentiaries that the critical point between them will be much more easily settled than that between Russia and Austria.

The congress will certainly not sit daily, but time and intervals of adjournment will be left for discussion from day to-day. It seems to be the general impression that the congress will certainly last several weeks.

The National Zeitung says Prince Bismarck will leave Berlin in about ten days, and that neither Lord Beaconsfield nor Prince Gortschakoff will await the end of the deliberations. If this is true, final details will be entrusted to second and third plenipotentiaries.

A RECEPTION.

The empress received all the first plenipotentiaries yesterday.

Lord Beaconsfield goes to Potsdam to-day as guest of the crown princess.

Caratheodory Pasha and Mehemet Ali, Turkish plenipotentiaries, made their official calls yesterday.

The German court will go into mourning for the late king of Hanover, which will interfere with many of the contemplated festivities. It is said that in the private interviews Lord Beaconsfield has made a favorable impression on Prince Bismarck. The latter is also noticeably amiable to the French envoys.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent mentions the existence of an Anglo-Turkish understanding, which is a kind of supplement to the Anglo-Russian agreement. It secures the paramount influence of England, not only in Asia-Minor but at Constantinople. The Standard in a financial article to-day, says Lord Salisbury, before going to Berlin, consulted with the leading bankers about the position and capabilities of Turkey with a view to the establishment of a financial commission at Constantinople similar to that exist[illegible]

The Constitution

ATLANTA, GA.

SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1878.

THE republican party should use arnica.

AMPT has been figuring in a republican convention.

NOYES is coming. Butler will probably have some fun out of Noyes.

SMITH, the appointment clerk, supplies one of the missing links in the investigation.

THE man who saves the republican organization from total wreck should claim salvage. Will it be Ben Butler, Nat. Banks or Grant.

ZACHARIAH CHANDLER has been heard from. He has had the temerity to talk to the republican convention of Michigan. Bill is keeping quiet.

WHILE Mexicanization is gradually progressing, will some one tell us where Conkling stands? He was a very enthusiastic investigator at first.

BEN BUTLER and Jake Cox seem to antagonize each other. We fail to remember now whether this is bad for the republicans or the democrats.

IN another column will be found the majority report of the judiciary committee on the Kimmell bill. It is an able summing up of the questions affecting the presidential title. Mr. Hartridge, the efficient and rising member from the first district, is the author of the document.

THE democrats on the Potter committee would do well to remember sometimes that it is not absolutely necessary for Ben Butler to conduct the investigation—not that Ben will hurt anybody or anything, but because Mr. MacMahon seems to know more about what Sir Thomas Browne calls "the ultimate facts."

THE ELEVENTH YEAR.

To-day THE CONSTITUTION enters upon its eleventh year, and the fact may be emphasized by at least a brief and passing allusion. It is perhaps unnecessary even to do this save for the purpose of placing it among the memoranda of a daily journal's history. The ten years covered by the files of THE CONSTITUTION have been marked by some of the most momentous events in American history. Vast changes have taken place in our politics, and the industrial system of the south has been practically revolutionized. We have all passed from the smoking hills of War through the dreary and unpicturesque Vale of Reconstruction, and somehow or other we seem to be on the road to prosperity. Looking back over the past—the past of THE CONSTITUTION as well as the past of the country—it is almost impossible to adequately realize the nature and extent of the troubles that beset and hedged us in on every side. We find, however, that the paper has been a faithful chronicler of events as well as a thoughtful forecaster of results. It has led in the enterprise that has brought Georgia journalism up to its present high standard, and has taken a conspicuous part in every discussion relating to the political, social, or industrial interests of Georgia and the south. It is needless to make any promises. Years are behind us and the future is before us. We shall make all endeavor to keep THE CONSTITUTION where enterprise, the warm support of the people and the encomiums of the press have placed it—in the lead of southern journalism.

THE SILVER CONFERENCE.

An international silver conference is now an assured fact, the prophecies of the gold bugs to the contrary notwithstanding. The third section of the silver bill directed the president to invite the countries composing the Latin union and such other European nations as he might deem advisable, "to join the United States in a conference to adopt a common ratio between gold and silver for the purpose of establishing internationally the use of a bi-metallic money." The governments of Russia, France, Italy, Hungary, Holland, Switzerland and Greece have accepted the invitation, leaving only England and Germany to hear from. This result ensures the holding of the conference, and renders it certain that it will be an important assemblage. Under the terms of the silver bill the conference must be held within the next three months, and the president has already named as commissioners on the part of the government, ex-Senator Reuben E. Fenton, Hon. Wm. S. Groesbeck of Cincinnati, and Prof. Francis A. Walker, of Yale college. These gentlemen will constitute a competent and creditable commission. The place of meeting has not been determined upon, but it will probably be Paris, because the selection of that city would doubtless meet the wishes of our commissioners. They are entitled each to $2,500 and their expenses, and there is no prohibition as to visiting the exposition occasionally.

It is believed by many that if the conference can agree on a ratio between silver and gold, founded on their prospective value, that both England and Germany will join the league. The English cabinet is now divided on the subject. Silver is the money of India and must continue to be so. England is therefore standing in her own light when by the use of a single standard, she depresses the currency of her chief colony. With the balance of trade in our favor, too, she will be compelled to pay for our products in gold or in silver at its bullion value in gold. These facts may lead her after a while to seek an international standard of value. In Germany the people are beginning to wake up to the fact that the terrible hard times which they are experiencing may be due in good part to the demonetization of silver. They find the prices of property shrinking as the stock of silver is driven out, and gold comes in to take its place. The people have thus far reaped from the change only want of employment and trouble generally. A popular demand for the remonetization of silver is thought to be imminent—a movement very similar to the one that this country has just experienced.

But whether England and Germany join the conference or not, it is now certain that the conference will not be a failure. It is probable that it will prove a more signal success than even the international postal conference. The primary question which will present itself in the conference will be whether a ratio between the value of gold and silver shall be fixed by international agreement. If this is decided affirmatively, what shall the rate be? Our present silver coinage is at 16 to 1 of gold. Of the nations which have consented to join in the conference, those forming the Latin union—namely, France, Italy, Switzerland and Greece, with Belgium, which has not consented—coin silver at the rate of 15½ to 1. The Russian standard is at 15.32; that of Holland at 15.60; that of Hungary at 15.45. If it should be decided that 15½, being the ratio of the Latin union, ought to be adopted the American silver dollar would in that case be reduced from 412½ to 399½ grains, or the gold dollar would be changed from 25 8-10 to 26 60-100 grains.

MR. HAYES'S TITLE.

The democratic house by the strong vote of 234 to 14 has taken the wind completely out of the sails of the revolution shriekers. The demagogical republican party and the timid few of the democratic party who see revolution in the dim distance, are alike stranded by this authoritative and unqualified declaration of the house. It is in every respect wise and satisfactory. It effectually disposes of a long-vexed question, and dismisses the fears of several well meaning but easily-distressed people.

The subject came up in the house on an almost unanimous report from the judiciary committee against the Kimmell-Blair bill to give the United States supreme court power to try Mr. Hayes's title. Only the cranky Mr. Proctor Knott dissented. The majority report was drawn by Mr. Hartridge. It declares in substance that the forty-fourth congress was the properly constituted body to count the votes cast in the presidential election of 1876 and to declare the result; that no subsequent congress has power to reverse its action, and that congress cannot confer powers upon the supreme court or any other tribunal to reopen the questions thus determined. It however takes the ground that all matters of alledged fraud should be thoroughly investigated, so that wrong-doers may be exposed to public reprobation and the truth of history vindicated. The wisdom and sincerity of this report is evinced in the fact that Mr. McMahon, who is conducting the Potter investigation and who undoubtedly knows better than any other man what facts it will be able to elicit, signed and heartily approves it.

This timely and judicious action of the house puts a quietus both on Mr. Montgomery Blair and the organs of the radical party. It also disposes of Mr. Key's big moonshine sensation. The organs will have to hunt up a new campaign humbug; for the Mexican one cannot stand up in the face of an almost unanimous vote of the house. It matters very little what the new ghost may be, now that the investigating committee are free to delve for the bottom facts of the electoral villainy, and the democratic party is in a position to reap all the advantages that will naturally flow from the damaging revelations of fraud, perjury and forgery in the presidential count. This is exactly as it should be

THE BERLIN CONGRESS.

The plenipotentiaries of the great congress were chiefly engaged during the past week in arriving at Berlin, in dining and wining after their arrival, and in the making of calls that ceremony demands. All that has been got along with, and it is believed that the real business of the congress will begin tomorrow. As the sessions of this great international body are secret, we shall not know day by day exactly what progress is made, or how certain conclusions are reached. But since Bismarck declared at the opening of the congress that Europe must have peace, no one has any fears as to the renewal of war. When Prince Bismarck, Prince Gortschakoff, Count Andrassy and the Earl of Beaconsfields, the four foremost men of Europe—when they want peace, peace is as good as secured. Whether it is a lack of money in one country, or a surplus of socialists in another, or something else in a third, does not matter peace is the probable result.

The object of a European congress has in fact always been peace. That is the theory of these assemblages, the powers being the police of Europe. This police consists of Austria, Germany, Russia, Italy, France and England. Under this plan a matter that involves common interests must not be changed without the consent of all. On this doctrine England stood, and the treaty of San Stefano was upset. A new treaty is to be made at Berlin by the six nations; and there are intimations that they will conclude to practically divide Turkey among themselves, in order to secure a lasting peace. Actual annexation is not proposed—at least not at first—but the dodge of protectorates will be resorted to. The western provinces will be cared for by Austria; Russia will secure Bulgaria and a part of Armenia, and England a protectorate over Asiatic Turkey. What will become of the Greek provinces is not hinted at, nor are there any intimations of the dividends that the other powers are to receive. This plan is, however, vague and difficult. It will, during the secresy of the congress, be followed by others equally daring and perhaps it would be best to await information from official sources. The Radziwill palace will be the centre of European interest for a month to come, and in that time we will have many rumors. But in the end we may be sure of two things—Turkey will be, at least practically, dismembered, and a long peace as to the eastern question will be planned.

UNCLE REMUS AND THE TELEPHONE.

"Unc. Remus," asked a tall, awkward looking negro, who was one of a crowd surrounding the old man in front of James's bank yesterday, "W'at's dis 'ere w'at dey calls de fonygraf—dis 'ere inst'ument w'at kin holler 'roun' like little chillun in de back yard?"

"I ain't seed um," said Uncle Remus, feeling in his pocket for a fresh chew of tobacco. "I ain't seed um, but I hear talk un um. Miss Sally wuz a readin' in de papers las' Chuseday, an' she say dat it's a mighty big whatyoumaycallem."

"A mighty big which?" asked one of the crowd.

"A mighty big whatshisname," answered Uncle Remus. "I wuzent up dar close to whar Miss Sa'ah wuz a readin', but I kinder geddered in dat it wuz one er deze 'ere whathisnamezes w'at yer holler inter one year an' it comes out at de udder. Hit's mighty funny unto me how dese folks kin go an' prognosticate dere eekoes intu one er deze yer i'on boxes, an' dar hit'll stay outwell de man comes 'long an' turns de handle an' let's de fuss come pilin' out. Bimeby dat it goes off like one er dese 'ere torpedoes."

"You hear dat, don't you?" said one or two of the younger negroes.

"Dat's w'at dey tells me," continued Uncle Remus. "Dat's w'at dey sez. Hit's one er deze yer kinder w'atsiznames w'at sasses back w'en you hollers at it."

"W'at dey fix um up fer, den?" asked one of the practical negroes.

"Dat's w'at I wanter know," said Uncle Remus, contemplatively. "But dat's w'at Miss Sally wuz a readin' in de paper. All you gotter do is holler at de box, an' dar's yo' remarks. Dey goes in, an' dar dey are tooken and dar dey hangs on twell you shakes de box, an' den dey drops out des ez fresh ez dese yer fishes w'at you git frum Savannah, an' you aint got time fer ter look at dere gills, needer."

The crowd dispersed fully satisfied with the explanation.

—The surviving members of Mr. Bryant's immediate family are two brothers, Arthur and John Howard Bryant, who are both living in the west, and two daughters, the elder of whom is the wife of Mr. Parke Godwin. John Howard Bryant enrolled his name among the list of American poets by some very good work in his younger days. He is now a citizen of Princeton, Illinois.

—No American lady of the day leads so brilliant a life as Madame Waddington, wife of the French minister of foreign affairs. A strange combination of nationalities this family possess. He is of naturalized British parents, was educated under Arnold at Rugby, and rowed in the Trinity eight at Cambridge. His wife is a daughter of the late President King, of Columbia college, New York city.

—The Vanderbilt will case, which bids fair to drag on till the twilight of time, is almost as fruitful a source of hard swearing and general nastiness as was the trial growing out of the Brooklyn scandal. If William H. finally succeeds in establishing the validity of the old man's will he will have passed through such an ordeal as many a man would not endure for all the money in New York. Taken all in all, it is a pretty nasty piece of business for a comparatively small amount of money.

—Mrs. Jenks, who is mentioned as the possessor of the Sherman letter, was recently in conference for some time with Judge Shellabarger, Secretary Sherman's counsel. It is intimated that her testimony will not be as important as anticipated by the committee. She is extremely reticent, both as regards the alleged Sherman letter, and the details of the part she is said to have performed in securing its possession. Mrs. Jenks is a woman of much beauty, middle statute, and middle aged. She is of English origin, if not birth, and is a true type of feminine health, shrewdness and activity.

—The late Thomas Winans began mechanical experiments in the nursery, where he found amusement for his infant mind in building little railroads and running toy trains upon them. For many years he has lived in seclusion—a seclusion so complete that there are said to be persons who have been living around him for twenty years who never saw his face. His home and grounds were surrounded by massive walls, ten feet high. In 1850 the citizens of Baltimore objected, on moral grounds, to the splendid casts of the antique statues in the galleries of the vatican and the louvre, which ornamented his grounds, and the city council required him either to remove them or to build a fence; he chose the latter.

—Miss Clara Louise Kellogg has no husband and never had one, and makes a boast of it. She has no fancy for singing her throat sore for a man to see her to and from the theatre, and smoke fine cigars and drink costly wines between the opera acts on her money, and fly into a great rage if any other man should happen to blink at her. She has seen enough of this sort of matrimonial economy to satisfy her. On the other hand, Mme. Ilma Di Murska has had more matrimonial experience than generally falls to the lot of one woman. She is living with her sixth husband, and has had bad luck with some of them, too. But she persevered and lost no time in repairing damages and solacing bereavement. Both are exceptional cases, and ought to prove whether it is better or worse for a popular prima donna or dramatic star to marry or not to marry. That is the question, and the sum of happiness of Di Murska and Kellogg, if it could be figured up, ought to settle it.

Mr. Stephens's Letter.

Augusta Chronicle.

Mr. Stephens's letter is simply a defiance to the democracy of the eighth district. He says to them, in substance, "I am a democrat, but I alone know what democracy is. I will accept your nomination, but if you give it to some one else I shall run any how." In all kindness and candor, we think Mr. Ste-borne testimony to his integrity, to his unblemished public and private character. We have often differed with him, but never questioned his motives. With modesty we express the opinion that the people of this district have agreed with us in what we have done. Recognizing his honesty, the people have allowed him the widest latitude of opinion. With one voice they condemned his apologies for Grant, the tyrant, and his defense of Durell, the unjust judge, but they did not attempt to humiliate him on that account. He was elected and re-elected to congress, while nine-tenths of the voters repudiated and condemned his course. They do not now agree with him that the exposure of frauds and perjuries means revolution and "Mexicanization." They do not think that it is a crime to prove a crime, but they are perfectly willing to allow him to form and express his own peculiar opinion upon the subject, because they have confidence in his integrity if they do not subscribe to his infallibility. But mistaking their magnanimity for fear, he comes before them now with a defiance—a defiance unnecessary and unprovoked. He says to them in substance, "I am a democrat and I am the only judge of democracy. If you nominate me I will accept your nomination; if you do not I will break up your party." Mr. Stephens has issued his pronunciamento. It is for the democracy of the district to say what they will do with it. We condemned Mr. Stephens' course with regard to the Potter investigation because we believed him to be wrong, not because we desired his defeat. We condemn his recent letter because we consider it a gratuitous insult to the democracy of the district.

Mr. Stephens's Challenge.

New York Evening Post, rep

A more cautious politician than Mr. Alexander H. Stephens would have waited until a convention of his party had refused to give him a renomination for congress before practically daring it to do so, and declaring his intention to be a candidate whether he obtained a renomination or not. But Mr. Stephens is not cautious. He has strong convictions, and when his mind is made up he carries out his intentions regardless of consequences. He has opposed the Potter investigation and has not hesitated to make known his opposition; and when he finds a disposition among certain of his constituents to punish him for his independence he makes that independence more emphatic by proclaiming his purpose to be an independent candidate for congress if the regular nomination is given to some one else.

The effect of this declaration remains to be seen. There will be an interesting contest in Mr. Stephens's district if he is deprived of the regular nomination. But this is not likely to be the result. The democratic party leaders in the south have a wholesome fear of independent movements in their ranks, and they are not likely to furnish an occasion for a revolt which would attract so much attention and have so good a chance of success.

Muscular Radicalism.

Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Do the republicans of this country believe that the result of the war was a credit to our union soldiers?

If they do, let them say so when they are called upon to crystalize their belief in a platform.

Do they think the rebellion was a discredit to those who took part in it?

If so, let them say that in the same way.

Do they believe that the nation is supreme, and that state sovereignty, so-called, is a dangerous heresy?

If they do, why should they not speak out upon the subject?

Do they think local self government, as understood and advocated by the democratic party, is but another way of insisting upon the right of secession and disunion, and that all persons, without regard to position or procession, who indorse it or commend it are enemies of unionism and republicanism?

If such is their belief in the name of all that is manly, let them have sand enough in their gizzards to declare the fact boldly and positively. The blast that will awake republicans from their indifference, like the notes of a bugle, is one that sounds an onset, not a retreat; a charge, and not a surrender.

More Stalwart Comment.

Sparta Times and Planter.

We are for maintaining the democratic party as the only hope of success in 1880, and we lack lots of thinking that Mr. Stephens is the democratic party. He complains of bad treatment by Georgia newspapers. As to that we repeat what we have before said that if any other public man in Georgia had said half what he has in the last six years, he would have been too dead to skin and the newspapers would have done it. The fact is Mr. Stephens has been leaning towards the republican party for the last five or six years. He has said plenty to make us believe it, and one thing to strengthen that idea we have known for about three years and have never made it public, which is, that some five or six years ago he advised a very promising young man who was then living here and who had just been admitted to the bar, in a friendly letter, amongst other advice, to ally himself with the republican party, probably not in those words exactly, but to that effect. This is a fact, notwithstanding the fact that he afterwards, as we learned, denied it.

Mr. Stephens Has Enemies.

Warrenton Clipper.

If Mr. Stephens is an independent, the determination is to beat him with a regular nominee, and if he is the regular nominee, the determination is equally plotted to beat him out with an independent. This explains what Mr. Stephens means by saying "he stands for re-election." His eyes are not closed against a secretly working scheme to throw him out in any way it can be done. Is it any more dishonorable for Mr. Stephens to take the position his rival will take, in the event that Mr. Stephens beats in nomination?

Cockerell's Ticket of Savers.

Baltimore Gazette.

If it should turn out that Ben Hill saved the country from anarchy and civil war during the electoral count by repressing the southern members of congress, something will have to be done for him. He would look well as a candidate for vice president on the ticket with Grant. It would be a ticket composed entirely of savers of the country.

Cannot Aid Independents.

Madison Home Journal.

Since writing a paragraph regarding Mr. Stephens we see that he will "stand for congress" whether nominated or not. As a nominee we will aid him, as an independent, never. We have never abused him nor censured his conduct in the Potter matter, but we cannot aid independents. We are sorry that the great commoner has taken the course which his letter indicates.

The Great Ohio Platform.

Washington Post.

It is claimed that all republicans can stand on the Ohio platform. If it were a trifle longer they might all stand on it deployed as skirmishers.

Hadn't Heard.

Boston Post.

When John Ruskin complained of America because she had no old ruins, he hadn't heard of John Sherman and Stanley Matthews.

All Backbone.

New York Tribune.

There isn't much left of Alexander Stephens, but most of what there is seems to be backbone.

The Lessee System Illustrated.

Canton Georgian.

Why don't Bob Sothern hire his wife and take her home?

THANATOPSIS.

To him who in the love of nature holds
Communion with her visible forms, she speaks
A various language; for his gayer hours
She has a voice of gladness, and a smile
And eloquence of beauty, and she glides
Into his darker musings, with a mild
And healing sympathy, that steals away
Their sharpness, ere he is aware. When thoughts
Of the last bitter hour come like a blight
Over thy spirit, and sad images
Of the stern agony, and shroud, and pall,
And breathless darkness, and the narrow house,
Make thee to shudder, and grow sick at heart;—
Go forth, under the open sky, and list
To Nature's teachings, while from all around—
Earth and her waters, and the depths of air,—
Comes a still voice—Yet a few days, and thee

Where thy pale form was laid, with many tears,
Nor in the embrace of ocean, shall exist
Thy image. Earth that nourished thee, shall claim
Thy growth, to be resolved to earth again,
And, lost each human trace, surrendering up
Thine individual being, shalt thou go
To mix forever with the elements,
To be a brother to the insensible rock
And to the sluggish clod, which the rude swain
Turns with his share, and treads upon. The oak
Shall send his roots abroad, and pierce thy mould.
Yet not to thine eternal resting place
Shalt thou retire alone, nor couldst thou wish
Couch more magnificent. Thou shalt lie down
With patriarchs of the infant world—with kings,
The powerful of the earth—the wise, the good,
Fair forms, and hoary seers of ages past,
All in one mighty sepulchre. The hills
Rock-ribbed and ancient as the sun—the vales
Stretching in pensive quietness between;
The venerable woods—rivers that move
In majesty, and the complaining brooks
That make the meadows green; and, poured round all
Old ocean's gray and melancholy waste,—
Are but the solemn decorations all
Of the great tomb of man. The golden sun,
The planets, all the infinite host of heaven,
Are shining on the sad abodes of death
Through the still lapse of ages. All that tread
The globe are but a handful to the tribes
That slumber in its bosom. Take the wings
Of morning, traverse Barca's desert sands,
Or loose thyself in the continuous woods
Where rolls the Oregon, and hears no sound,
Save his own dashings—yet—the dead are there:
And millions in those solitudes, since first
The flight of years began, have laid them down
In their last sleep—the dead reign there alone.
So shalt thou rest, and what if thou withdraw
In silence from the living, and no friend
Take note of thy departure? All that breathe
Will share thy destiny. The gay will laugh
When thou art gone, the solemn brood of care
Plod on, and each one as before will chase
His favorite phantom; yet all these shall leave
Their mirth and their employments, and shall come
And make their bed with thee. As the long train
Of ages glide away, the sons of men.
The youth in life's green spring, and he who goes
In the full strength of years, matron, and maid,
And the sweet babe, and the gray-headed man—
Shall one by one be gathered to thy side,
By those, who in their turn shall follow them.

So live, that when thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan, which moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death,
Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave,
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Extract from Minutes Atlanta Cotton Exchange.

RESOLVED, In view of the great loss and inconvenience arising in handling Cotton baled in light flimsy Gunny Bagging, such as has been sold in this market for two years past, the Cotton Trade of Atlanta earnestly request all planters to stop the use of said Bagging, and bale their Cotton with heavy substantial stuff; we especially urge this, knowing that to bale Cotton in heavy Bagging, works no loss or hardships on the Planter, but on the contrary is profitable to him.

We hereby pledge ourselves, that, if we find at the opening of another season, parties continuing to bale their Cotton in this flimsy worthless stuff, to demand an allowance of one dollar on every bale so covered, reserving to ourselves, however, the right to totally reject.

We also earnestly request Planters to avoid the use of what is known as Straw Bagging, as such Bagging stains and discolors Cotton when the bales become wet. Exporters and Spinners, in all directions, are complaining bitterly of this Bagging, and threaten next year to reject entirely Cotton covered with this material.

We, therefore, resolve to reserve the right to reject Cotton packed in this Bagging.

A. T. CUNNINGHAM,
Secretary Atlanta Cotton Exchange.

Important to Parents and Guardians

MOUNT DE CHANTAL

Academy of the Visitation

NEAR WHEELING, WEST VIRGINIA.

PARENTS in quest of a first class school for their daughters, will do well to investigate the claims of the celebrated Academy. For thoroughness in every department of female education, Mt. de Chantal ranks pre-eminently high. Great attention is given to perfect the pupils in writing and speaking French with fluency. For those sufficiently advanced, it is the language of their recreation hours. The purity of accent and correctness of pronunciation acquired in this institution have been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for the superiority in music is so wide spread as to have made the Academy almost a national one. One feature, in particular, that should recommend Mt. de Chantal to the sensible parent, is the influence exercised to form the pupils to views and habits of economy, and to render them really practical and useful women of society in after years. Simplicity in dress is enforced by rule.

These facts, united to the exceedingly moderate rates of board and tuition ($200 per annum), will, we trust, secure to this school as large and desirable a patronage in the future as it has enjoyed in the past.

For further particulars apply for a prospectus to the Directress of Mount de Chantal Academy of the Visitation, near Wheeling, West Virginia

THE

Tate Epsom Spring,

BY THOMAS TOMLINSON.

THIS watering place, well known as furnishing the best medicinal water in the United States, is now ready for the reception of visitors, and will be kept in the best style during the entire season. The curative and restorative results from even a short and limited use of this water have been so generally illustrated in the past, and experienced by such large numbers of persons, residing in every section of the country, that it is deemed unnecessary to present any elaborate exposition or commendation of its singular and wonderful qualities. Personal experience is a more reliable and satisfactory test than any chemical analysis, and thus tried, it has been found without an equal. A correct analysis, however, will be furnished to those who desire it. Thousands have come to this Spring for relief, and but few have gone away without finding it.

No effort to please will be omitted, and every diligence will be used to promote the health, the comfort and pleasure of visitors.

The terms of the house will be made satisfactory.

Morristown, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad is the nearest railway station, and conveyances running to the Spring connect regularly with all trains.

For full and reliable information as to all matters of detail, address the proprietor, Tate Epsom Spring, East Tennessee, and prompt answers, accompanied by circular, will always be received.

ROWLAND SPRINGS HYGIENIC INSTITUTE.

Open for Invalid and Hygienic Boarders.

The only Institute South superintended by a regularly qualified Hygienic Physician. It is not a summer resort for the gay and fashionable world—but a place where the sick may, at any and all times of the year, depend upon quiet, rest and home-like surroundings. Neither is it (as erroneously applied and often understood by Hygienic) a One Bath establishment proposing to cure all diseases by inducing excessive action of one organ—the Skin, but a place where all real remedial appliances are judiciously employed as aids in restoring all the vital organs to perform normal functions. All enervating and debilitating processes as well as medical drug poisons are positively excluded in the treatment of the sick.

Patients afflicted with Acute diseases or suffering from Old Standing Chronic Complaints, of every description, may rely upon SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT and SPEEDY RESTORATION. Hundreds of invalids, after being drugged and dosed almost to death—and given up as incurable by the drugopathic professions—have been speedily and completely restored to health.

Home Prescriptions. Many persons unable to leave family or business, can, by a little knowledge treatment, be restored to health at home prescription and advice forwarded on receipt of full description of symptoms and duration of disease. Wild Land Sales.

Office of Comptroller General,

WILD LAND DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., June 12, 1878.

HON. W. L. GOLDSMITH,
Comptroller General:

SIR—I herewith submit a list of unreturned Wild Lands for the year 1877, from the following counties, viz:

Appling, Baker, Bartow, Berrien, Brooks, Calhoun, Carroll, Chattooga, Clinch, Coffee, Crawford, Dade, Dawson, Decatur, Dodge, Dooly, Early, Echols, Fannin, Gilmer, Gordon, Haralson, Heard, Irwin, Lumpkin, Marion, Miller, Mitchell, Murray, Pickens, Pierce, Polk, Pulaski, Schley, Stewart, Taylor, Terrell, Telfair, Thomas, Towns, Ware, Wayne, White, Wilcox and Worth.

There are several Head Right counties that make a report of Unreturned Wild Lands; but they are not sufficiently identified to include them in this report.

There are some of the surveyed counties that make return of Wild Land, but on examination the land is found to be returned in other counties.

There are a number of counties that have neglected to make reports of their unreturned wild land, as required by act of the General Assembly, approved February 28, 1874. Some have doubtless failed to make this report on account of not having received county maps in time; while others seem to have disregarded instructions given from your office on this subject. This work, as you are aware, is attended with considerable trouble, owing, in part, to the loose manner in which returns are made to the Receivers, also the careless way many of the Receivers enter the returns of parties giving in wild land; in many instances the number of the lot is not given; in others, simply the number is given, and the district and section is left out: this, under the law, amounts to no return. Furthermore, it is often quite difficult, and I might say impossible, to decipher the number, districts, and sections that are given. All this makes it very difficult to give a proper report of the unreturned wild lands in the State.

There are some difficulties in the way of the tax payer giving in and returning his land property; this is owing to the change of county lines, as frequently the party cannot locate the county in which his land lies, and in other instances the districts; for instance there are two third districts in Wayne county, one being the third district of originally Wayne, and the other the third district of originally Appling, now Wayne; hence a party returning No. 200, in the third district of Wayne, it would be impossible to locate this without the original county being given, as there are duplicate numbers in each district. There are other counties that have two districts of the same number with duplicate numbers in each, and there are a number of districts in the State which have duplicate numbers of whole lots and fractional lots. Other instances could be mentioned that tend to make it very difficult for the tax payer to properly return and locate his land.

It may be possible, owing to these circumstances, that there are a number of mistakes in my report, but I have no doubt an opportunity will be given all parties to rectify any mistake that may occur.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. A. WRIGHT,
Wild Land Clerk.

COMPTROLLER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ATLANTA, GA., June 12, 1878.

To whom it may concern:

The following list of unreturned Wild Lands, made up from returns sent to this office by the Tax Receivers of Georgia, will be advertised and sold in compliance with law. This list will be advertised "once a week for four weeks," and at the expiration of said time, fi. fas. will be placed in the hands of the sheriff of the county where the same is located, and there advertised and sold as other tax sales. This advertisement is intended to give owners an opportunity to pay the tax on land in this list, and save further cost, by writing to me and ascertaining the amount of tax and cost, and paying the same at this office.

Doubtless mistakes and errors have been made by Tax Receivers in making up list of unreturned wild lands and sending same up to this office, or typographical errors may exist in this long list of figures. If so, ample opportunity will be given for correction of all such mistakes, by sending to this office short affidavits, that the lot or lots advertised as in default (describing same by number, district, section and county), has been returned and tax paid; and when, to whom, and in what county paid; or if by any other mistake any lot or lots are wrongfully in this list; and if, on examination of the books of this office, it be found correct, the error, whatever it may be, will be promptly rectified.

These lands should bear their part of the burden of taxation, and they will be sold if the tax is not paid.

Respectfully,
W. L. GOLDSMITH,
Comptroller General.

TROUP FACTORY FOR SALE.

OWING to the advanced age and failing health of the Proprietors and owners of the Troup Factory we have concluded to sell out and retire from the business, and will give possession immediately, or at any time within the next six months. We offer the whole property at $80,000 eighty thousand dollars; one-half cash; and one, two, three and four years credit on the balance at (7) seven per cent. per annum.

The property has cost us largely over that amount and will pay a fine profit on the investment if well managed. Persons, or a company desiring such property, will of course examine it—the titles, location, and its future chances of success. Our Mr. Leslie is and will be on the place to exhibit and explain what is necessary to know. To capitalists within fifty miles around no description is necessary. Those living further ma, wish a formal description of the property in this notice.

We are (10) ten miles southeast of LaGrange, Troup county, Georgia, on Flat Shoal Creek. The Factory building is seventy-six by forty-six, a wooden building, four stories high, strong and well built. We are running sixteen hundred and fifty spindles; and five hundred mule spindles not at work at present; have fifty looms on osnaburgs, stripes, checks, denims and kerseys; besides are spinning yarns and dyeing part of them of various colors. Have an excellent Press House, Dye House, Boiler and Dry Rooms, and are turning out from fifty to sixty thousand yards of cloth monthly. All the water wheels are patent iron and in good order. Indeed the whole premises consisting of three or four nice cottage residences for proprietors and agents, and twenty-seven good two room houses for operatives, all near and convenient, with good springs and wells convenient to all, are in good repair and well arranged for comfort. Place healthy, well shaded and handsome, with a church on premises and others near; also postoffice and tri-weekly mail.

Very near the Factory, in twenty feet, stands a two story flouring mill with good runners and machinery, bolting cloths, &c. The mill has a good run of custom, and the proceeds of the grain sold without hauling off.

The whole premises contain about eleven hundred acres of land. Much of it good farming land. At least five hundred acres of it should be in cotton and corn for the use of the place. Perhaps half of the lands are in woods, and partly in pine. All our fire woods use pine entirely and the quantity will be everlasting.

The North and South R. R. which will be finished from Columbus to Rome, runs within ¼ mile of the mills, and will add several thousand dollars to the value. Our proposition for the price named includes also the tools, wagons and eight mules.

Besides what is enumerated we usually have on hand one hundred to three hundred bales cotton, (now 150) Also, stock of goods in splendid rock store, sixty by forty feet. Stock generally seven to ten thousand dollars, now perhaps eight thousand dollars. Annual sales twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars. The cotton must be paid for in net cash. The stock of dry goods in store, half cash, and other half in six and twelve months.

All manufactured goods on hand and in hands of agents we propose to dispose of ourselves, but would make a heavy reduction on them and close the whole out, if so desired. The stock is perhaps twenty thousand dollars.

The business is pleasant, having now a full run of custom which consumes the proceeds as fast as manufactured. We retire from the business solely for the reasons already stated.

To persons wishing such an estate who are younger men this is a rare chance. Everything is in order—all going and all ready. No waiting to build everything, say one to three years. No loss of interest on capital and risk of fire or flood. The day possession is given you commence business and profits. Written communications will be kept strictly private if so desired.

THOMAS LESLIE.

Buffalo Lithia Springs Water.

THE BUFFALO LITHIA WATER FOR STONE IN THE BLADDER

EXTRACT FROM LETTER OF DR. WM. T. HOWARD, of Baltimore, Professor of Diseases of Women and Children in the University of Maryland, dated August 1st, 1873.

Dr. Howard compares these Waters with those of the celebrated Greenbrier White Sulphur, West Virginia, and adds the following:

"Indeed, in a certain class of cases, it is much superior to the latter. I allude to the abiding debility attendant upon the tardy convalescence from grave acute diseases; and more especially to the cachexia and sequels incident to malarious fevers in all their grades and varieties, to certain forms of atonic dyspepsia, and ALL THE AFFECTIONS PECULIAR TO WOMEN that are remedial at all by mineral waters. In short, were I called upon to state from what mineral waters I have seen the greatest and most unmistakable amount of good accrue in the largest number of cases in a general way, I would unhesitatingly say the Buffalo Springs, in Mecklenburg county, Virginia."

EXTRACT FROM LETTER OF DR. HARVEY L. BYRD, of Baltimore, late Professor of Diseases of Women and Children in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Maryland. Dated Baltimore, September 21st, 1877.

"During my stay at the Buffalo Lithia Springs, as resident physician, for the season just closed, I had ample opportunities for observing the action of the waters of the several Springs on different constitutions and the two sexes, and I have no hesitation in expressing the opinion that, in the large majority of FEMALE DISEASES, and especially those connected with the Uro-Genital Organs, they have no equal as a medicinal agent in the whole range of Therapeutic appliances. In Leucorrhœa, Amenorrhœa, Dysmenorrhœa and Cystorrhœa, their action may be regarded as almost specific."

These Springs are now open for guests. The Waters in cases of six gallons $5 per case. Agents at Atlanta, Ga., Daniell & Marsh, 13 Decatur St., and J. A. Hutchison & Bro., No. 14 Whitehall St.

THE PEERLESS
FRUIT
EVAPORATOR

A—Smokestack. B—Fruit Trays. D—Connecting Pulley. E—Cog Gearing. F—Chain Attachment to Elevator. G—Projection to Elevator. H—Elevator. I—Latch for Holding up Trays.

The Evaporator is designed for drying all kinds of Fruits and Vegetables on a new principle: that of rapidly evaporating the water from them, and curing them in their own vapor. By this process the Color and Flavor are so preserved as to make the product scarcely inferior to the green fruits and vegetables, and of a market value two or three times that of sun dried fruits.

—The many friends and acquaintances of Maj John C Whitner will regret to learn that he is still suffering severely from rheumatism. The few times that he has ventured out it has been at the cost of great suffering. We learn that he has been brought to the city and is stopping at the residence of Judge James Jackson, for the purpose of receiving more constant and more critical medical attention. We trust that he may soon be restored to health.

—The Brunswick Advertiser of last week says: Mr. Wm. E. Kay, stenographer from Atlanta, is here in attendance upon the superior court. He was sent down at the solicitation of members of the local bar, by Mr. John M. Graham, the stenographer of the Atlanta circuit, and recommended by Harry Jackson, Esq., supreme court reporter. Mr Kay is certainly "up to the standard" in his business. Not a sentence or even a word either in question or answer escapes him, not even parenthetical questions or remarks to a witness thrown in. He gets it all.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

—Coming event—Edison's speaking phonograph.

—Peaches of a much larger size are coming in very rapidly.

—The superior court will meet at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

—There will be a large excursion from Charleston to this city, July 3d.

—We hear nothing of the building of a bridge on Whitehall crossing.

—There will be an excursion from Troy, Ala., to Atlanta on the 4th of July.

—The culture of grapes is a subject being much discussed by our fruit growers.

—The sewers of our city are so choked up with trash that it is almost impossible to flush them with water.

—See the notice of the fine new livery stable just opened by Mr. Boaz near the Markham house.

—There will be baptism at the Second Baptist church to-night. Services to comence at 8:15 o'clock.

—The finest cabbage we have seen this season came from the Hapeville orchards and farm of Dr. Sam Hape.

—Prof. Tyndall will have an illustrated article in the July Popular Science Monthly, describing some recent experiments with various new forms of fog-signaling apparatus.

—The hundredth anniversary of John, the founder of the order of turners, will occur on the 11th of August. Will the turners and gymnasts of our city celebrate the occasion?

—The Elberton Gazette says: Atlanta cannot just not conceive the vast benefit the completion of the Elberton Air-Line is to accomplish for her, neither can the shad monopolizing city below us conjecture her "dam"age.

—The paragraph of yesterday's CONSTITUTION referring to Mr J M Hoge, of Chattanooga, was not intended to reflect upon that gentleman in an unenviable light. Only a little pleasantry was intended, and we hope that he regards it as such.

—The passenger train of Tuesday by the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line made the trip from Charlotte to this city, a distance of 265 miles in something less than eight hours. This, we believe, is about the fastest time on record in this section of the south. Conductor Brannan was in charge of the train.

—Ladies who have purchased at the great bankrupt sale of fancy goods, notions, etc., at 25 Whitehall street, O. L. Braumuller, agent, during the past week are well satisfied that it was no advertising dodge, but that the goods were sold without reserve. The sale is limited. So call at once at 25 Whitehall street. 623

—The LaGrange Reporter, speaking of the excursion from Atlanta, says: On Wednesday an excursion train came from Atlanta, bringing large numbers, not only from that city, but also from the towns and villages along the road. It was the best-behaved set of excursionists we ever saw, and we take great pleasure in testifying to that fact.

—The Knoxville Tribune, speaking of our city, says: Hurrah for Atlanta! This year it had the Sunday school convention, and the Methodist conference, leaving scarcely a chicken within a hundred miles, and next year they will be visited by the Southern Baptist convention in May and the American Medical association in June. And THE CONSTITUTION, mind you, says they are glad of this.

—The Augusta Evening News says: The cotton merchants of Augusta will give a complimentary barbecue at the Locks to-morrow to Mr W C Saunders. Mr Saunders will leave Augusta in a few days to make his home in Atlanta. During his stay in Augusta he has made many friends; and, for high character and business integrity, he stands second to none. The barbecue to-morrow is but a slight testimony to the esteem in which Mr. Saunders is held by his brother merchants. Mr S. has been buying cotton here for several years for Inman, Swann & Co, and other houses at the north.

POLICE POINTS.

—Six state cases up to midnight.

—Saturday night was reasonably lively.

—The sanitary laws should be closely watched.

—The question of mounted police is variously viewed.

—The stealing of fine dogs is very common in Atlanta.

—Atlanta was never more peaceable. A police sensation would be a rarity.

—The attendance on recorder's court was very good yesterday, and netted about $20.

—Chief Thomas writes his orders in military style and enforces them in the same way.

—Floyd Bellow, a sharp little negro, was arrested yesterday for stealing about a peck and a half of harmonicons from the store of Mr A L Braumueller. The harps were produced in evidence and there was almost infinite variety of them. Bellow was committed to jail by Justice Tanner yesterday in default of a bond.

CAPITOL NOTES.

—The military generally in Georgia is in good condition.

—The executive office is a model of order and neatness.

—All the officers of the Georgia Volunteers, the colored company just organized here were commissioned yesterday.

The Georgia Teachers' Association.

For the information of the teachers of the state, and all other friends of education, please make the following statements in your columns:

By an arrangement of Mr B W Wrenn, general agent of the Western and Atlantic railroad, all who wish to attend the convention of the Georgia Teachers' association, to be held at Barnesville on July 31, may secure tickets over the road mentioned at reduced rates by sending their names and that of the station from which they start, to the undersigned.

This should be done before the fifteenth of July, and each party must enclose a stamp for the return of the ticket, giving name and post-office address distinctly and in full.

The Georgia railroad will give return tickets to those who pass over its line; and the other roads in the state will allow those who pay full fare going, to return free on presentation of a proper certificate, signed by the president and the secretary of the convention.

A very interesting programme has been prepared, and will be published. A full attendance of educators from the schools and colleges of the state is earnestly desired and fully expected. Every live teacher should attend; the dead ones should remain at home.

W. B. BONNELL,
Sec'y. Georgia Teachers' Association.

"Patchwork Palace."

We learn that the tickets for Mr. Grady's lecture on next Thursday night are being sold very rapidly. Every one who failed to hear this lecture before is getting a ticket now, and many who heard it are arranging to try it again. The church will doubtless be crowded to its utmost capacity. Mr. Grady has always [illegible] no other lecturer could [illegible]

—Jim Fish, the popular hat renovator, is at Jerry Linch's.

—Dr George Crawford is at his plantation near Milledgeville.

—Miss Ella Smith of Atlanta is visiting her sister in Smyrna.

—John Lowry did not go to Virginia on very serious society business.

—Miss Lucie Ellis is visiting friends in Columbus, her former home.

—Miss Mattie and Emma Turner of Upson county are visiting the city.

—Mrs F A Kirby and daughter, of Atlanta, are visiting friends in Cave Spring.

—Two of the young bloods of Mobile spent several days in Atlanta last week.

—Miss Coleman, of Summerville, has returned home after a pleasant visit to Atlanta.

—Mrs Howell C Jackson is spending a few days in Sandersville, where she formerly lived.

—Mrs M B Waddell is in the city for a short time, visiting her parents on Pryor street.

—Mrs E D Atwater, with her sister and mother, have gone to spend the summer at Rockaway beach.

—Miss Carroll, of Cave Spring, who has been visiting Atlanta friends for some time past, has gone home.

—One of the most popular young hotel clerks in Atlanta wears a white hat and a blue cravat. Both become him.

—Mrs W F Jack will leave for Salem, N C, next week and will return with Miss Dora Jack and Miss Fannie Owens.

—Miss Mary Lou Morgan, of Memphis, is expected in the city soon en route for Macon where she will spend the summer.

—Will Lewis, of Dalton, came to Atlanta yesterday in a white cravat and lavender pants. Will is now on the carpet in all parts of the state.

—Miss Sallie Johnson, of Madison, passed through the city Thursday on her return to Madison after a long and pleasant stay in Virginia.

—Macon Telegraph: Judge Richard H. Clark, of Atlanta, was in the city on Sunday. Judge Clark is one of the brightest legal minds in the state.

—Chattanooga Times: Miss Milligan, Atlanta's favorite tragedienne, is said to be inimitable in her rendition of "Miss Mortimer," in "Naval Engagements."

—Primus W. Jones, the most prosperous young farmer in southwest Georgia, was in the city yesterday, where his many friends are always glad to meet him.

—We learn that Captain Lowry and ladies accompanying him on his European trip, were in Cork, Ireland, about the first of June; that he had kissed the blarney stone and would be even with John Stephens and Judge Lochrane on his return home.

—Mr Willie Booker, an engineer on the Western and Atlantic railroad, was married on Thursday night to Miss Mamie Kile by Rev A Lee. We congratulate the happy young couple, and hope their wedded future may be bright and prosperous.

—Griffin News: Miss Callie Spullock and Mrs R Helm of Rome, Mr J A Goin, Capt J Postell, and Attorney-General R M Ely of Atlanta, have been for several days the guests of Mr W W Woodruff. Their visit at that hospitable residence cannot be otherwise than pleasant.

—Greensboro Herald: Three of our popular and pleasant young ladies are off spending some months with their friends. Misses Lou Barnes and Emma Wooding are at the state capital enjoying themselves among the Atlantese, while Miss Susie Newton is among the literati of Athens. We miss their pleasant faces from our little social circle.

—Monroe Advertiser: Col. Ed Callaway, the popular clerk of the Kimball house, and one of the politest young men in America, dropped down to Forsyth last Sunday to spend a day or two with his Forsyth friends. The Kimball, under the new management, of which Callaway and Miller are the right and left bowers, is very popular with the traveling public.

—Philadelphia Times: William Henry Peck, one of the best of southern story writers, lives in Atlanta, Ga., where he is the centre of a large circle of literary and social friends. Professor Peck is a man of fine culture and of generous habits. He writes rapidly and powerfully. His stories are closely plotted, in a style resembling that of Wilkie Collins. He is engaged on the New York Ledger, Mr Bonner having been shrewd enough to secure the exclusive use of his pen for a number of years. His salary is said to be $10,000 per annum.

—Kid gloves for evening wear have the wrists finished with plaiting of lace or ribbon.

—French laces and grass fringes are the most popular trimmings for all thin materials.

—The Leghorn flat, trimmed with wild flowers, seems to be the favorite for the seaside.

—A new pastime for ladies is making curtains of Japanese silk and pasting figures upon them.

—Carpets are now made to resemble the raw silk material so much in favor for furniture covering.

—Young ladies wear for a necklace a band of black velvet, to which are attached tiny tinkling bells.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Gainesville is filling up with resorters.

—A Kimball house hop is proposed to occur soon.

—On account of the unexpected absence of the moon, the proposed moonlight picnic of the Irving club Friday night did not occur.

—Miss Irene Summers, who visited Atlanta last October, was married last week to Mr A O Murphy, of Barnesville. The wedding was a brilliant affair.

—"Married Life," Tuesday night at the opera house, will attract a large and stylish audience. The Comedy club, which will give it, is composed of some of the best amateur talent in the state.

—A large excursion from Charleston is preparing for the 3d of July. Since our boys were treated so royally in Charleston they will do all they can to make the visitors enjoy their visit here.

—The meeting of the Rho Alpha social club at the residence of Mr Robert Clark, in Edgewood, Friday night was one of the pleasant social events of the season. The club will meet regularly during the summer.

—The Clio literary club had a pleasant meeting last Tuesday night at the residence of Mrs Maier, on Mechanic street. It will meet next Tuesday night week at the residence of Mr Charles Heinz, 213 Whitehall street.

—Next Friday night the Irving club will hold its first anniversary meeting at the residence of Col N J Hammond, 158 Peachtree street. The club has had a brilliant career during the entire year, and the anniversary meeting will be an occasion of rare interest. An interesting programme will be arranged.

MUSICAL NOTES.

—What has become of the "Philharmonic Quartette Club."

—Mr. George Camp, of Atlanta, by request, sang a bass solo in elegant style.

—The duo, "Happy Swallow," by Misses Kate and Emma Wynne, was a rare performance. Their rich alto voices blended with exquisite harmony, and produced an impression that will not soon wear off.

—We take pleasure in reproducing some comments of the LaGrange Reporter in regard to some of the musical people of our city, who participated in the concert at LaGrange female college, on Tuesday of the past week:

—The duet between Rizzio and Maria was a superb piece of vocalization—the soft, mellow tenor of Mr McCrystal and the clear, flowing soprano of Mrs Carter, whether separate or combined, enchained the attention of the audience from first to last.

—The solo by Mr. McCrystal, "Sweet Genevieve," was a triumph for him. Not once in a decade does a LaGrange audience have such a pleasure as was afforded by him in this song. He was encored and responded, to the great delight of the audience.

—The Preciosa chorus by Mrs Snook, Mrs. Carter, Misses Wynne and Messrs. Camp, Long and McCrystal, was the finest piece of choral singing that we have heard in many a day. It was a positive delight—a "grand combination" of delight—to borrow a modern showman's phrase.

—By special and urgent request, Mrs L H Clarke, of Atlanta, consented to sing a solo. The people of LaGrange had before heard her exquisite voice, and they could not let the occasion pass without hearing it again. Her song was highly artistic, and was sung in a style so near perfection that we could not see that anything was lacking to make it so.

—Mrs. Snook's solo, "Voice of Love," brought out rounds of applause. [illegible] the lavish praises bestowed on this lady by the Atlanta [illegible] ever popular old ballad "Comin' thro' the Rye." This was even better appreciated than the former song. Her singing was simply exquisite. Miss Lula Jones played a solo, "Fern Leaves Schottische," and was followed by Mrs Carter in a vocal solo. The clear, silver tones of her rich voice will long linger in the memories of her hearers. The concluding performance was a chorus "Happy and Light," by Mrs Clarke, Miss Wynne, Mr Camp and Mr Long. It was a fitting conclusion to the most brilliant concert ever given in that hall.

THE MARIETTA CONCERT.

—Marietta enjoyed a rare concert Friday night, at which Mrs Mary Hedden of Atlanta performed, to the delight of the audience. Mrs Annie Simon Werner of this city entranced the people of our sister city with her superb voice, and Mr Tom O'Neill gave them a rich bass. Atlanta musicians are popular over Georgia.

An Immense Stock of Dry Goods.

The prince of dry goods merchants, John Keely, has again apparently, arranged to deluge the city with "bargains" in dry goods. This is not a new thing for him to do, for his store is proverbially the one where first-class goods can be had for the lowest possible prices. Really his store is a perfect marvel of activity, and his three floors are as full of goods as ever were the granaries of Egypt. Just fancy if you please, excellent camlet pants' goods at 6 cents per yard! It is perfectly marvellous, whilst his stock of silks and fine dress goods is without a peer in the state for volume, beauty and cheapness.

His stock of fancy goods, ties, rouchings, torchons and other laces, parasols, hosiery and gloves, etc., is immense, and in collars and cuffs, he is prepared to suit the most fastidious, as well as to astonish them with the price.

It behooves all people to buy goods as cheap as possible. We advise all in need of dry goods to call upon Captain Keely before making purchases. Certain we are that he can, in almost all cases, suit them both in goods and prices.

Such a stock deserves at our hands a more than passing mention, go and see it, you will be repaid for your trouble. 1t

CITY TAX COLLECTOR'S OFFICE,
ATLANTA, GA., May 25, 1878.

To the City Tax Payers:

You will see by the following resolution, adopted by the mayor and general council, that they allow the tax payers the liberal discount of three per cent. to all who may pay their taxes during the month of June. The city needs the money, and the discount is liberal, and it is more than you can make on your money in any safe investment. So come up promptly and pay, and save officer's cost.

Very Respectfully,
J. O. HARRIS,
City Tax Collector.

At a regular meeting of the mayor and council held in the council chamber, May 20, 1878, the following resolution was adopted, viz:

By Councilman English—

Resolved, That the city tax collector be and he is hereby directed to allow a discount of three per cent. to all who may pay their taxes during the month of June, 1878, and that he be directed to publish this resolution in the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION. Adopted.

DAVID H. DOUGHERTY,

35 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

In order to meet the demands of my rapidly increasing trade, I have purchased and placed in stock during the past week large lots of many very handsome and cheap goods. There is no use for me to tax your time by reading an enumeration of my stock, when, in a word, I can assure you that every department in my house has been replenished during the past ten days, and in a great many lines of goods I am prepared to offer special inducements. Send for samples and prices, or call and examine my stock. I am not loaded down with old rubbish stock, and goods that are out of style. My stock is entirely new—all put in this spring. See below what my resident buyer in New York city has to say:

NEW YORK, June 6, 1878.

"Mr. D. H. Dougherty, Atlanta, Ga.:

"DEAR SIR—All your late orders filled, except silk fringes; had to have them made in order to get the shades you want. The manufacturer says he will have them ready in three or four days. Judging from the frequency and extent of your order, you must be having a fine trade. Many of my late purchases have been made of importers' and manufacturers' agents, at a large reduction, as at this season of the year they are anxious to close consignments and accounts, and by buying in large lots, and dividing between you and my other correspondents south and west, have secured some very low prices.

"Yours, truly,
"C. P. DEXTER"

A New Livery Stable.

We notice that Mr. G. R. Boaz has opened a fine new livery stable at No. 16 Loyd street, near the Markham house. He has every thing new. A fine lot of horses, in splendid condition, and finely trained for double or single driving; or for saddle use. We noticed in his stable, several beautiful carriages and buggies of the latest and most approved styles.

Mr. Boaz proposes to run a model stable, and to furnish the public with equipages at prices to suit the times. He is also prepared to take good care of horses which are boarded with him. His stables are finely ventilated, and is in all respects attractive. He hopes by courtesy and favorable terms to merit a good share of public patronage.

Tribute of Respect

To little Carrie Johnson by the Ladies' Aid society of the Church of Christ, Atlanta, Ga.:

Died in Augusta, Ga., May the 14th, 1878, little Carrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Johnson, age 26 months and 15 days.

Whereas, Deceased was a member of our society and has been taken from us by the hand of death; therefore,

Resolved, That in this, the first removal from our midst by death, a most beautiful and tender life has been closed on earth to bloom in brighter beauty and fuller tenderness in heaven.

Resolved, That in her untimely death we lose our baby sister, and youngest worker together with us for Christ, our sweetest flower, our bright and sparkling jewel in the cause of Christian benevolence.

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved parents our profound sympathy, and offer to God for them our most earnest prayers in their behalf; that they may live in faith, and hope through Christ to meet the loved one in the happy land of everlasting life.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be entered in the records of this society, and a copy given to the grief-stricken parents, and a copy sent to THE ATLANTA DAILY CONSTITUTION with request to publish the same.

Unanimously adopted by the society, June 11th, 1878.

MRS. S. C. PERDUE, President.
MRS. S. A. ORR, Vice President.
MRS. ANN BARKER, Sec'y Treas.

FINANCIAL.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, June 15 1878.

There is nothing new that we can report during the past week in financial circles. There has been no transaction in either bonds or stocks. As the summer advances, money grows scarcer; still it can be procured from the various banks by giving the required security.

Business Outlook.

Perhaps merchants, bankers, and commercial men, have just cause to take a rather hopeful view of the present condition of business, and feel buoyed up. In a few days congress will adjourn. We are fast nearing a specie basis; the currency question will receive no further legislation; the prices of all kinds of merchandise, commodities, and real estate, are adjusting themselves to near the gold standard of values. Aside from this, crops promise the most abundant harvest the country has ever known. It is computed that thirty million more acres of land have been sown, planted and tilled this season than a year ago. Again there seems to be dawning a brighter day for all our industries and a more prosperous period for the interchange of legitimate business.

COMMERCIAL.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, June 15, 1878.

Trade during the week has been dull, but healthy. Mercantile matters were characterized by no new or interesting features, and the merchandise movement continued on a moderate scale in pretty much all departments. A reasonable quiet prevailed in the market for DRY GOODS and operations in all lines were based upon the well assured wants of current trade. In fact, the distribution in this market was collectively light and made up of small reassorting lots of a miscellaneous character to supply immediate or well assured wants. COTTON was without particular change during the week. BREADSTUFFS were quiet so far as actual business was concerned, yet the leading staples about hold their prices. FLOUR of the better grades was only moderately active. Inferior brands very quiet from the near approach of a promising wheat crop—in fact, new flour is already appearing in some markets. WHEAT at present is only in demand for milling purposes, the price of the new crop not yet being fully established. CORN is rather quiet and dull at the prices quoted in our columns. OATS of the new crop are under light receipt, and in fair demand. CHEESE, transactions in this market are very light. COFFEE found sale to a collectively small amount in supply of the current wants of trade. PROVISIONS dull, and present no new features. TALLOW inactive and unchanged. EGGS only in fair request and generally steady. POULTRY in good supply and fair demand. REFINED SUGARS rather quiet and unchanged in price.

Crops.

The past week has been quite cool, and in some localities in the state farms have been visited by rain, wind and hail storms, doing considerable damage. Still, the wheat and oat crops, already secured, have turned out unusually good. perhaps these crops are the largest that have been raised in Georgia since the war. The corn, fruit and cotton crops are exceedingly promising. Farmers have displayed unusual energy during the season in working their crops and in using approved fertilizers and tools and farm implements. Labor has not been as reliable any season since the war as at this time. Provision dealers complain of dull times. Middle men are comparatively idle, and the railroads that bring provisions to our city have lessened the number of their freight trains. All this means that farmers are in a better condition than formerly.

Cotton.

During the week there has been a good demand and prices have hardened daily, resulting in an advance of full ⅛c on all grades. Transactions have been light on account of the very light stock held in the city, but a good deal of cotton has been sold during the week in the small towns off on the railroads trading to this place. Sales from the warehouses in this city yesterday and the day before were made in round lots at 10⅛ for low middlings, 10¾ for middlings, and 11c for good middlings.

Family Markets.

The markets begin to present their usual summer aspect. Flowers in pots, bulbs, plants, and seedlings, are displayed at several places, and sell cheaply, and the variety of fruit offered for sale is every day becoming larger. The same may be said as to the abundance of vegetables and meats. Those who have the wherewithal to purchase cannot be dissatisfied as to quality and price. There are fruits of various kinds, fish, vegetables, fowls, flowers, etc., in a plentiful supply. Below we give some of the retail prices:

Meats—Steak 12½c; roast 12½c; soup meat 10c; veal 12c; mutton 12c; pork 10c.

Vegetables—Tomatoes 15c ℔ quart; egg plants 3 for 25c; cucumbers 30c ℔ doz; squashes 25c ℔ doz; beans 35c ℔ peck; green corn 35c ℔ doz; beets ℔ bunch of half dozen 25c; potatoes 5c ℔ quart; new onions 5c ℔ bunch; cabbage 5@20c ℔ head; dry onions 40c ℔ peck; carrots 25c ℔ bunch.

SHOES! SHOES! SHOES! SHOES!

I am now in the act of receiving choice lines of Burt's, Zeigler's and Miles' Shoes, which will be sold at the lowest possible profits. These goods EVERYBODY ELSE CAN BUY if willing to sell a first class Shoe at a short profit, but the temptation to sell an inferior Shoe for the same price and make a larger profit sometimes is too strong to be resisted. I have ALL the first class brands of Shoes, and I guarantee every pair of them. I can furnish, also, Cloth Gaiters as low as 75c a pair, and thousands of Newport Ties at $1 25. Ladies' Kid Slippers from 60c a pair, besides Children's Kid Ankle Tie Slippers 25c a pair, similar to those being sold elsewhere at 50 cents. NO SHODDY! NO TRASH AMONGST THIS STOCK OF SHOES. Having no spleen nor envy to vent upon competitors, and not entertaining any feeling save that of gratitude for the liberal patronage bestowed upon me, I am perfectly willing to abide the verdict (as to goods and prices) of purchasers, who, having examined elsewhere, will give stock and prices a thorough investigation. A visit to my store will amply repay anybody in need of FIRST CLASS GOODS AT LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES, at
